Making the most of your high school years...priceless

*A*ll day long students were cooped up in their classrooms, but when that final bell rang, students hurried to leave. As they ran to get their backpacks, they talked to their friends about what they were doing after school. Some students talked about hanging out with friends, while others mentioned work and sports. No matter what, these activities were helping the students create high school memories that would be with them forever.

Being Crowned HOMECOMING QUEEN....priceless

Once again, homecoming proved to be a success. The innovative theme for the spirit week, which consisted of a huge array of spirit days, was based on superheroes. The immense amount of school spirit was remarkable. With powder puff, the parade, the game, and of course, the court, the excitement was enough for anyone.

As the school day came to an end, the junior and senior girls anxiously prepared for their long-awaited appointment on the middle of the football field for the traditional powder puff game. The girls were supported by the male cheerleaders who donned short shorts and painted faces. Each team played hard, but the senior girls took charge and beat the juniors 30 – 6.

The jam-packed day of events continued with another competitive event: float building. After school during the week, dedicated students worked hard perfecting their floats, but the junior class proved to dominate the challenge with their "Toy Story" theme. The float included a life-size Buzz Lightyear and an Etch-A-Sketch.

After the parade, the field lit up and the teams ran out, causing all the fans to go crazy. The homecoming spirit overwhelmed both sides of the field like wildfire. The Bulldogs kicked off to start the game against the Lawrenceburg Tigers.

As the game worked its way into the second quarter, the Bulldogs illustrated their ability to play an exciting game.

Halftime approached and the 2004 homecoming court nominees made their way onto the track to entertain the roaring fans. The crowd was eager to learn who would be crowned as royalty. With much anticipation, the winners were finally announced. The recipient for princess was Maggie Raab, freshman and the prince was George Gutzwiller, sophomore. The winners for King and Queen were Dan Beasley and Megan Young.

The game continued on and the Tigers came back with a tough game. It was true competition, but the Bulldogs left the field with a victory and the final score of 34 – 27.

Homecoming was and always will be one of our school's biggest and most important events of the year. Congratulations to homecoming court and our Batesville Bulldogs for making their way to a victory!

A Starry Night

Brittany Krieger

As soon as students stepped into the Batesville Primary School for the 2005 semi, they saw that the school had been magically transformed. The theme was "A Starry Night" and Student Council went all out with decorations that included flourishing plants, shimmering stars, and other glittering objects that took over the entire school.

"The decorations were astonishing. I couldn't believe that used to be a gym," said Emily Burns, junior.

The shining lights lit the dance floor as the student body was engulfed into the starry night. Benches and plants circled around the dance floor so students could experience the full effect of the theme. Also, at the door, each student was given a glow stick to make the night special.

"It really felt like you were in the theme. It looked so real when I sat on the bench and looked up at the bright lights," said Nicole Egbert, junior.

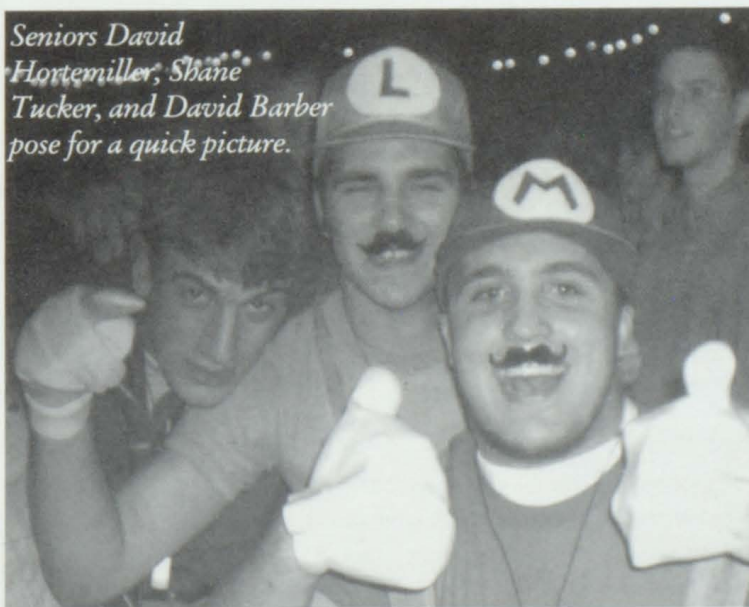

However, the theme wasn't the only thing people were talking about. Kiss 107 was the DJ at this phenomenal event. With the incredible music and decorations, students agreed it was hard not to have a good time.

"Over 300 students attended semi this year giving us the best turn out ever," said Student Council member Marc Bergman, sophomore.

"Out of the 300 students that attended, only 75 of them left before the dance ended. That's very unusual compared to past years," said teacher Mrs. Berkemeier.

The magical evening eventually came to an end as the dance concluded. However, no one left the dance without being captivated by the amazing decorations and music.

Family Bonding...

Alex Enneking

There were many senior-freshman sibling sets at Batesville High School. There were a total of twenty pairs of senior-freshman siblings. In high school, having siblings may make things easier, or it may make things extremely difficult. Some seniors may choose to harass their younger brother or sister by making their stay at high school a complete disaster.

"During Freshmen Orientation week, I dressed my sister up everyday and made her look completely humiliating," said Amber Fledderman, senior.

While some seniors tormented their siblings, others actually liked having their brother or sister here.

"I claim him as my little sister, it's awesome," said Robbie Mehlon, senior.

As for the freshmen, some found going to school with their older sibling comforting.

"I know that he always has my back if people try to pick on me," said Josh Hannebaum, freshman.

Even though the year is over, the sibling relationships will last forever. Both the freshman and seniors say that it was a year that they will never forget.

Love is in the Air

High School dating is not an uncommon occurrence. Many people have either given it a try or have managed to successfully engage in a meaningful relationship.

Throughout the year, couples form together and break away. However, there are the lucky few who have kept the "fire" going. While talking to some of the couples around BHS, they told us that a lot of dedication needs to go into the relationships.

"It consists of late night phone calls that last hours and hours," said John Linville, junior.

All couples said that it's a given that you have to trust your significant other and be able to have fun with them. In the end, you're in for a great ride that will end in a great relationship.

Pimpin' Our Rides Carrie Giltz

Buying car accessories was a common hobby for teenagers. Everyone wanted to add something to their car to make it unique. Teenagers were competing for the best looking car. Certain accessories gave cars character which could often show the owner's personality.

Common accessories among teenagers were beads, leis, and air fresheners. Those were just minor extras that only cost a few dollars here and there. The expression, bigger is better, was also common among student's cars. Students often got lifts to make their cars look both bigger and better.

The most common accessories were CD players and sound systems. Many loved listening to music while driving around in their car. Many students weren't satisfied with the car radio itself; they felt they needed a system so their music could be heard from two blocks away. Sound systems were talked about among many students. They are always bickering about whose system was better and louder.

Some people think car accessories can make a car while some feel they just add a little color. Everyone has different views and interests especially when it comes to 'spicing' up their car.

Tuesday Night Tradition

Tuesday night rang a bell to many BHS students. Many of them, especially the upperclassmen, knew that Tuesday nights were wing nights at BW3's.

Buffalo Wild Wings, also known as BW3's, is located in Harrison. Many students feel their trip is worthwhile because of the excellent food. Obviously wings were the most popular, but there was a large variety of other foods to choose from. You could order your wings however you want them by adding your favorite sauces.

Not only was it a restaurant, but a place to relax, socialize, play games, and just have a good time.

Laughing, Learning, and Living

In the basement of a local office building is a place where students who share the same value systems can go to laugh and learn.

"I go to Young Life to have a good time, and have a few laughs," said Alex Siefert, sophomore. "Not only did I go for the social aspect, but I went to get a deeper feeling in my life."

Every Wednesday evening, Young Life Club was held in the basement of the Batesville Medical Arts building. These laid-back hours of games, singing, and a short message from leaders Bridget and Ozzie Smith, was a time for friendships and faith to grow. Skits, such as "Cookin' with Copenhagen", and activities such as the Human Scavenger Hunt brought students from all grades together for a single purpose.

Afterwards, if students desired a more in-depth Biblical study, Campaigners was held. This year, the music of the Dave Matthews Band was the focus of the Campaigners Bible studies. Each week, students listened to a relevant Dave song, and then branched off into smaller groups to study the deeper meaning of the lyrics.

"I value the opportunity to study the Bible with my close friends at Campaigners," said Alix Nettnay, junior.

Yong Life allowed for students to form friendships with other high schoolers, as well as gain a deeper understanding of their faith.

Throughout high school many students enjoy involving themselves in several different activities, sports or clubs. Some, however, get jobs to keep themselves occupied. Some people do it all: manage to have a job, take part in sports or other activities at the same time.

At BHS one in five people had jobs according to a yearbook survey. These jobs varied in many different areas. Most people were in the food business while others were content mowing lawns or bagging groceries.

No matter what kind of job a person had, it was definitely a good thing to have a few extra bucks in your pockets.

Not only were jobs a good idea for students' wallets, they also prepared them for the world outside of high school.

In some households, parents enforced the "job rule" that made their child get a job so they were able to pay for car payments, insurance, gas or maintenance. "I have to pay for my cell phone and my car payments, so it's almost imperative that I have a job," said Nancy Oesterling, junior.

No matter what kind of job students had, it was almost sure to prepare them for the future. Whether it was more money, new friends, or maybe just something to do in spare time, jobs seemed to be a positive thing.

"I've had my job for two years now and I don't regret one bit of it. I have money saved up for college and good plans for afterwards," said Matt Kruthrup, senior.

Who loves nicknames? Batesville High School sure did. No matter where you went or what school you're at, people were going to have nicknames. There was no limit on what a nickname could be. The unique thing about them was that they were be so different, and often times told you a lot about a person. Some may be interesting and cool, while some may have been inappropriate and demeaning. Most people got their nicknames by something they did or simply how they acted. However, at Batesville High School there was an abundance of nicknames. They ranged from obvious names to those inside jokes that no one understood except those who were responsible for the name.

"I like nicknames; they can really describe a person," said junior, Kyle Green. The nicknames shown above were the most popular and well-known throughout the school. If you see someone talking to these people, you'll most likely hear their nickname being used.

Express Yourself

In style or out? Body piercings and tattoos seemed to be taken kindly here at Batesville High School.

Piercings were commonly seen here at BHS, and tattoos are on the rise.

Many students adopted the original piercing, but there were a few took it a little further. Walking down the halls, there was a good chance of seeing someone with one inch holes in their ears, or large, colorful, spikey looking objects hanging out of them.

As for tattoos, there was a smaller crowd, but none the less, a crowd. Many of the tattoos were unseen and covered by clothing, ranging from the wrist all the way to the back. Carrie Giltz, junior, has a flower on her back; "I love my tattoo and hopefully I can get another one." Students always had a way of making themselves stand out of the crowd, and one way to do this was through tatoos and piercings.

Spring Break

HAVING SOME FUN IN THE SUN

By Angela Fullenkamp

Spring Break was a time for people to kick back and relax. At least most people did. Spring break was an enjoyable time whether you were at the beach, in a cabin, or back in good old Batesville. Just getting away from the same scene of teachers, books, and the stressful life of being a student was a good enough break for some. "I had a blast on spring break and I will never forget it. Mostly because it was my senior year and also because it was a time to relax and hang out with my friends," said Ashley Holt, senior.

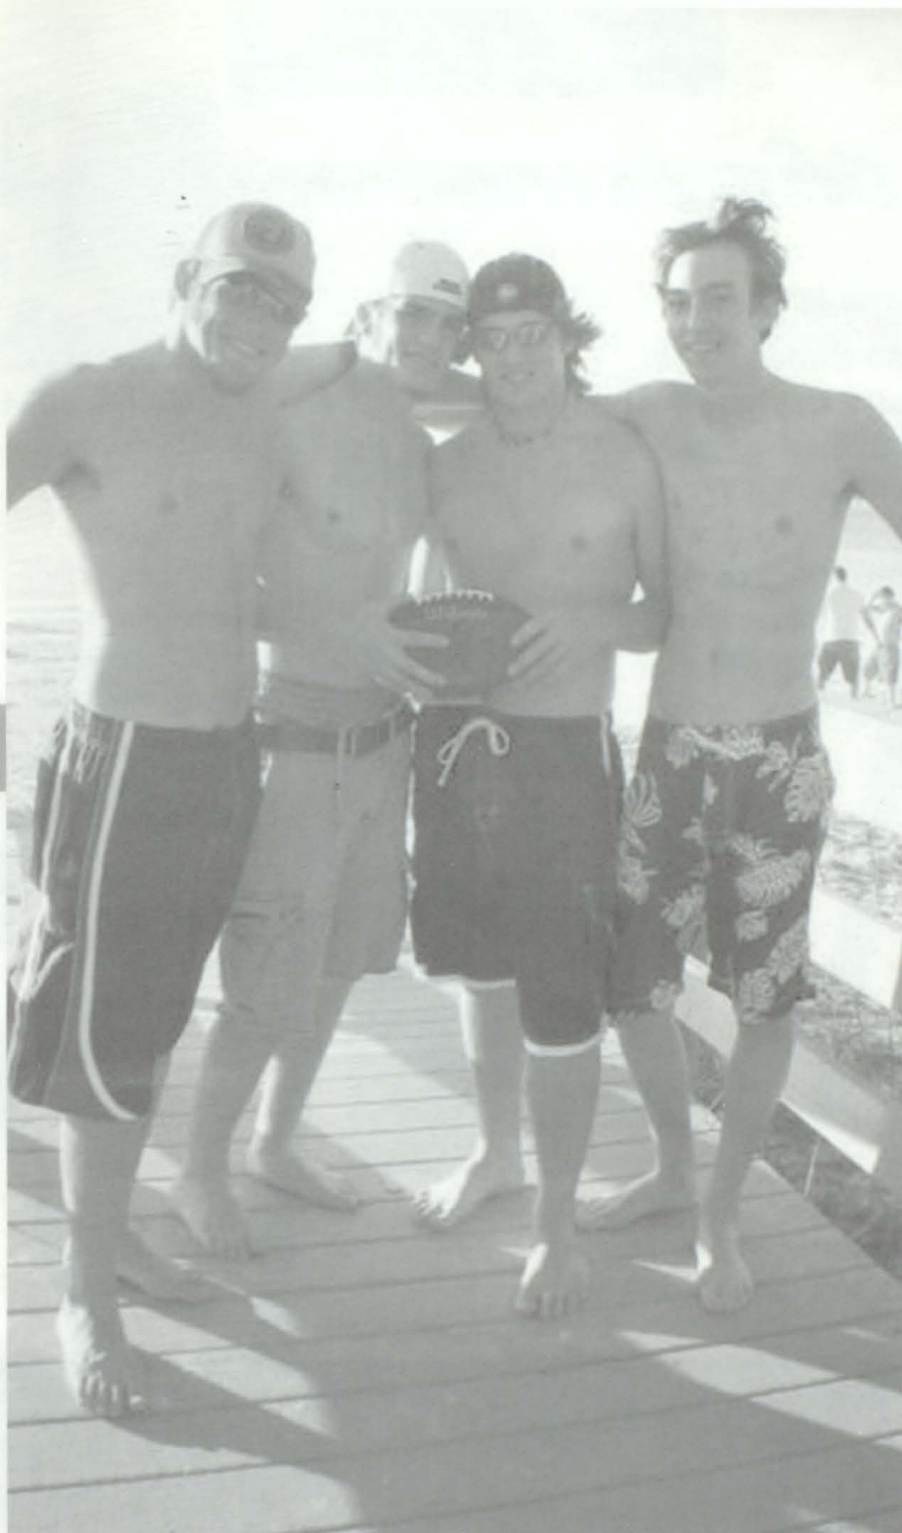

Getting prepared for spring break can be one of the toughest times. (There is also all the packing.) "It takes me forever to pack I have to start three days in advance," said Erin Butt, freshman.

Along with all the preparation there came the anticipation. Once it got closer to spring break kids could hardly handle paying attention in class. "All I can say is that the week before spring break is just a blur to me. I can't remember anything about it. I was way too excited about spring break," said Brittan Siefert, junior. It was all that people could think and talk about. The week before spring break many kids worried about what the weather was going to be like or what they are going to do while on vacation. "I checked weather.com everyday," said Ms. Stultz, teacher.

After it was all over many students came back to school with their memories, pictures, and stories. It was what people liked to gossip about for weeks. As people said, "time flies when you are having fun," and spring break was surely proof. But no need to worry, after it is over some kids were already planning for next year.

PROM

By Brittany Krieger

Wonderful Tonight

"Wonderful Tonight" was the perfect theme to explain prom. It highlighted an amazing evening out on the town.

The decorations at prom had everyone talking. The main attraction was the 17-foot Eiffel Tower that overlooked the gymnasium. Other decorations included light poles, black picket fences, Eiffel Tower centerpieces, a beautiful canopy, and bright lights.

"The first thing I noticed when I walked into the gym was all the decorations. I thought they went along really well with the theme," said Denise Crain, junior.

"A lot of hard work went into preparation for prom, but it was worth it on prom night," said Ashley Giltz, junior, who had spent many hours preparing for the event.

Another moment that highlighted the night was when all the suspense of prom court finally came to an end with the announcements of court. The winning court consisted of seniors Thomas Streit for King, Elaine Rennekamp for Queen, juniors Steve Meer for Prince, and Megan Poore for Princess.

"Being King is a lot like being Queen. The only difference is that I don't have to wear a dress," said Thomas Streit, senior.

The night eventually came to an end and most of the students attended after prom at the Primary School.

"My favorite part of after prom was seeing all the guys dressed up in monkey suits," said Katherine Rogers, senior.

The night was filled with memories that will last a lifetime.

"I thought that everything was nicely decorated and everyone looked really good," said Ali Glaser, senior.

What was your favorite part of prom?

"My favorite thing about prom was the canopy because it looked really pretty," said Abby Siefert, senior.

"Dancing with Miss Ganor was definitely the highlight of my evening," said Landon Raab, junior.

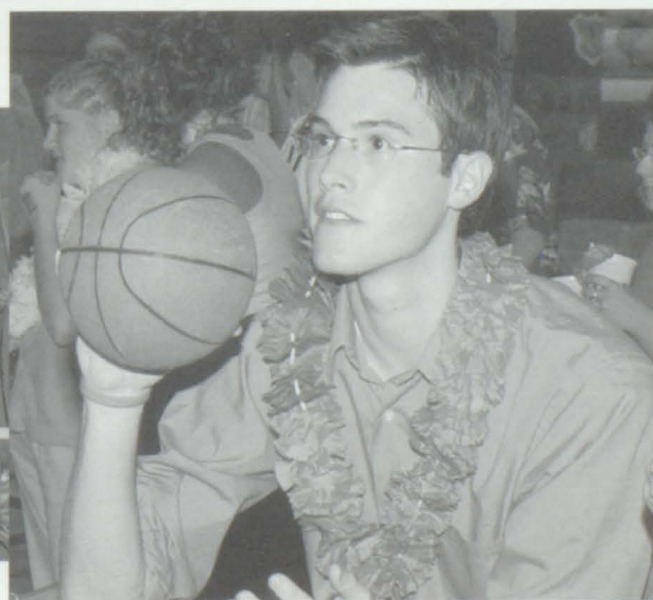

"I loved when I was finally able to get my boyfriend to do the electric slide," said Jessica Hooten, junior.

What's Hot?

Angela Fullenkamp & Carrie Giltz

Having the latest things and the coolest items was important to many students at BHS. It was a year for new and different things. In the hair department, layers and the shorter look were in. Many girls decided to get out the old pair of scissors and chop off the locks while guys were keeping it long. We decided to take a trip back into the past. Girls went for the more elegant, romantic hairstyles. Side bangs were also a trendy fad. Guys went for the more shaggy look. They just rolled out of bed and were ready to go.

Styles took a turn back into the past. When you walked down the hallway at BHS, you might have thought you were back during the time of the broches, flats, and babydoll shirts. Many girls liked the longer shirt with some sort of cardigan or jacket over top. Along with that, they might throw on a broch.

"It was really cute and popular during the old times and came back," said Laura Hountz, senior. Flats were also accompanied with this type of outfit. Big heels were out and the shorter ones were in.

Most students recalled the time when mom or dad would dress us up in bright colors and leg warmers and put on our big pair of sunglasses and send us out to play. Mom and dad may not have dressed us up in this anymore, but we did. The leg warmers were back.

"I remember walking into the mall and seeing them on a mannequin and I just couldn't believe it," said Ashley Butt, junior. Along with that, shrugs were back in too. Girls were just throwing them on over a tank top and heading out the door. Guys were sticking with the more preppy simple look like the polos and jeans with a pair of clogs or sandals.

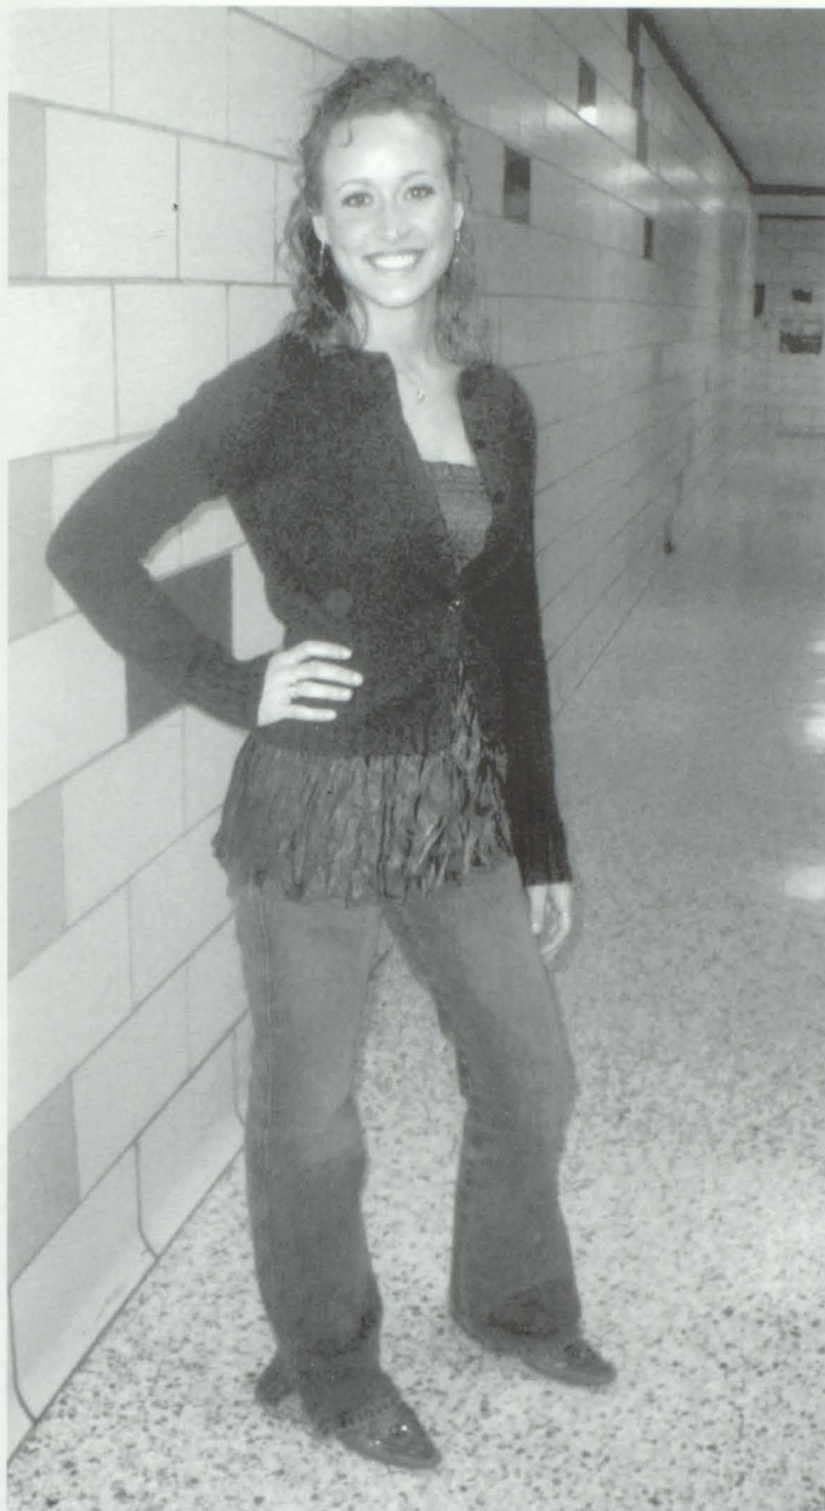

"I just liked to keep my style simple and comfortable," replied Brandon Klann, junior.

Accessories were always a must. Girls were wearing the big diamond studs and the long dangling earrings. Guys liked to gauge their ears, some even had holes as big as quarters.

Junior, Nick Dwenger, said, "It's unique and not alot of people have the guts to do it." Another fashion trend was rubber braclets, beggining with Livestrong. Not all are Livestrong they range in what they say. Some refered to sports or emotions. Popular ones in our school said "Remember Laura" and "Be Good To Yourself."

Times were always changing and fads were constantly coming back.

Cathy Ramsey, senior, shows off her stylish fashion with matching accessories.

What's your favorite accessory?

"I like dangly earrings because they add class to my plain style," said Abbie Nobbe, senior.

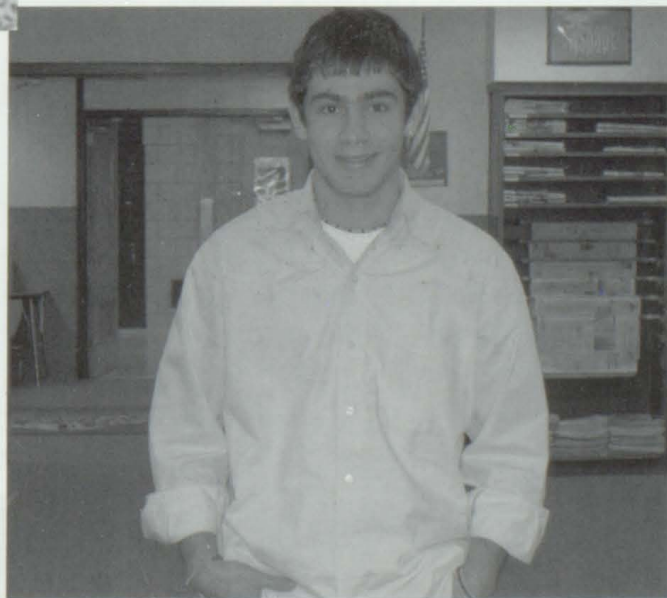

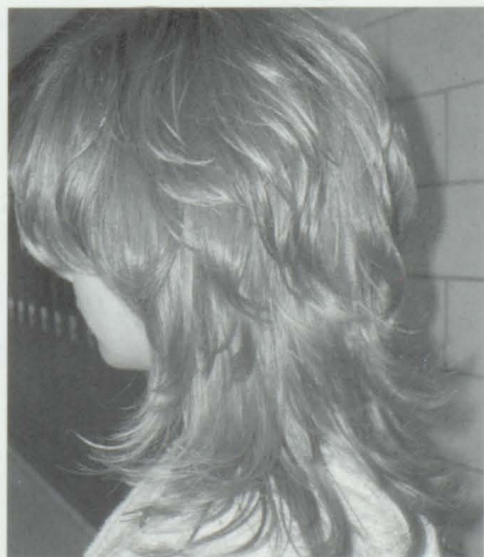

"I like flats because they are pretty and comfy," said Laura Griewe, senior.

"Broochs are a good, essential, accessory that spruce up your outfit," said Tess Bedel, freshman.

Say Hello...Wave Goodbye

The school year quickly came to an end, bringing the class of 2005 to the end of their high school years. The graduates held their commencement exercises at Batesville High School, on May 28 at 11:00 a.m. The beginning of the ceremony started by honoring America and quickly proceeded on from there. The Batesville singers were escorted to the front of the gymnasium to sing a couple of songs to the graduates. After they were finished, the graduate singers then preformed a song written by Charlie Lang entitled "Anywhere I Go."

It wasn't long before the salutatorian, Robert Call, and the valedictorian, Eric Faulkner, were announced and asked to leave their classmates with a few words. Then came the part that the graduates had been working toward for twelve long years; the presentation of the diplomas. John Moton, student council president, called out each graduate's name one by one, as Shane Tucker, senior class president, helped to hand out the diplomas.

After all had received their diplomas, Moton then led the class with the changing of their tassels. With the class flower alstromeria, and the class color as lavender, the graduates held their class motto in their hearts. "What we call the beginning is often the end. And to make an end is to make a beginning. The end is where we start from," by TS Eliot. The graduates were then released, and sent to begin their lives outside of high school.

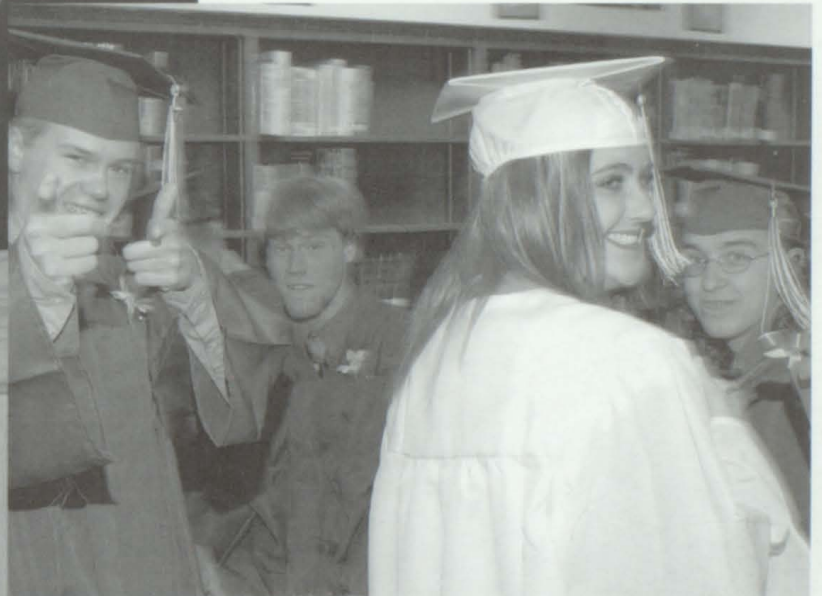

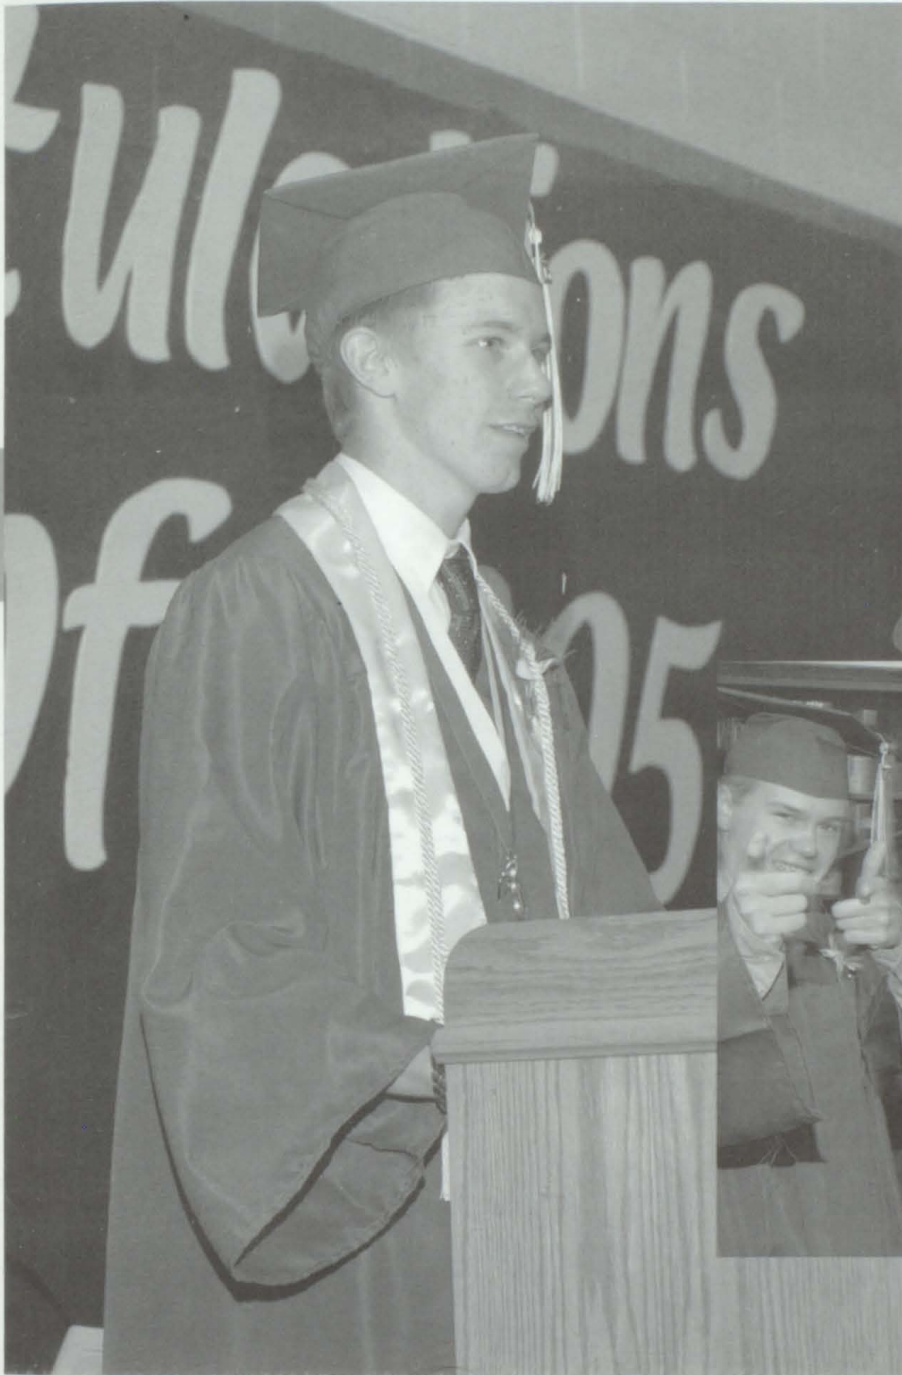

"To make an end is to make a beginning. The end is where we start from." T.S. Eliot.

Feeling of holding your diploma...

...PRICELESS!

Everyone in the class of 2005 waited for their senior year for a long time. When it finally arrived, students experienced a wide array of emotions. Many were excited to be finally moving on to bigger and better things, while some were scared to be out on their own.

There were also those sad feelings that many students felt. We knew that once we left Batesville High School we would all go our separate ways, and that meant not seeing our friends as much.

No matter where we go in life, one thing is lasting: the memories of senior year. These are things that no distance can take away, because memories are PRICELESS!

Going Places...

Seniors had a lot to think about as they planned their futures. We asked 86 seniors where they planned on going to college next year, and here are the top four answers:

"I am going to the U.S. Air Force for Security Forces(MP). I wanted to go there because it basically pays for my education, gets me in shape, and is my honor to serve our country. In the future I plan on becoming a police officer, so I figured Security Forces would be a good training experience. I'm kind of nervous about the fact that I'm going to be away from my family and friends for a long time, but I'm really excited. My mom, on the other hand, isn't too happy about it, but she's coming around," Ryan Dockery

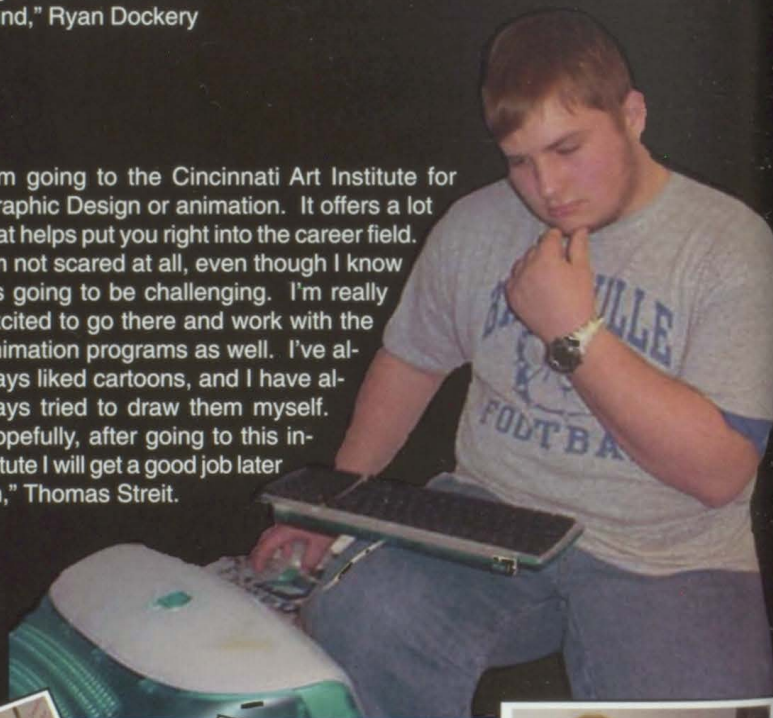

"I'm going to Berklee Music and majoring in dance and song. I'm the only college student to sit and play and get a good I'm a little go there because I know there's a tough competition down there. I think down there will be the about it. I'm excited and everything."

"I'm going to the Cincinnati Art Institute for Graphic Design or animation. It offers a lot that helps put you right into the career field. I'm not scared at all, even though I know it's going to be challenging. I'm really excited to go there and work with the animation programs as well. I've always liked cartoons, and I have always tried to draw them myself. Hopefully, after going to this institute I will get a good job later on," Thomas Streit.

Dressin' It Up...

Oh, how the days went by Senior year. No one really seemed to care about what they looked like anymore. School had become a simple routine and no longer a fashion show. Check out the top five items seniors wore this year. It was all about comfort!

#1: Sweatpants are the best thing to wear when you don't feel like squeezing into your jeans one day.

#2: Sweatshirts were the perfect choice if you just wanted to have something warm on all day.

#3: Clogs were not only the most popular shoe worn, they were one of the most comfortable as well.

#4: T-shirts were always a nice choice on days when you didn't feel like doing much with yourself.

#5: Jeans were the most common pants worn. There were many different styles, and most were found to be very comfortable.

*A*nother school year over, and yet another one to come. This school year has certainly been one to remember. Whether it was your last year before becoming the "top dogs" in the school or you were one of the young frosh just starting your journey through the high school years, memories were made that you will cherish forever. It was our last year together before the year all underclassmen dream of...senior year. Memories were made everyday as we drug our selves into school each morning and continued our long journey of education. After school, our class went their seperate ways and did their own things. The big fad this year was X-Box. You could find nearly all of the junior guys hanging out and mastering their HALO 2 skills at least a few days out of the week. The girls were hooked on the new release "The Notebook," and tried to convince their guy friends to watch it. Despite our friendly differences in leisure time activities, we found time to come together and continue building our friendships on the weekends.

November 15, 2004 will always be remembered as a tragic day to all those friends and family members of Laura Jane Dickman. Born on June 11, 1988, Laura passed away at the age of 16 due to a tumor, which had formed on her brain. Laura left behind something very precious to all her loved ones; the gift of memories. Some of Laura's hobbies included playing her guitar, skateboarding, music, and hanging out with friends.

Friends from school wanted to do something special, and in memory of her in order to keep her spirit alive. Black band bracelets were ordered with the words, "Remember Laura," screen-printed on them. The profit made from the bracelets was then used for a memorial that would be kept here at school.

Laura may not be here on earth with us, but she will never truly be gone. She will forever be in the hearts of all those who knew her. Laura was a special person whose personality and friendship will always be remembered.

REMEMBER LAURA

My Favorite memories with Laura...

"...when we went to the park to skate right after it rained. We were skating through this really deep puddle where the water came over our boards. Laura ran into this drain thing and fell right into it," said Jena Wessel, junior.

...was in 8th grade and when we were walking to my house. We started singing "Jeremiah was a bullfrog," and "Copacabana" as loud as we could. Laura started doing this hilarious dances. We thought this building was empty, but when I turned around and looked in the window, I saw a lady laughing at us. I told Laura and then we looked at the lady and waved," said Malia Fledderman, junior.

Two years down, two more to go. As we finished our sophomore year we realized school was now half over for us. This time next year we will be experts on BHS and its happenings. We have accomplished a lot in the last two years. People say that the high school years are the best years of a person's life. Now we are starting to believe that just might be true. Our class has changed tremendously over the last eleven years; losing some members while gaining others. This year was no exception to that fact. Many of us got our license during this school year and loved to brag about our "new wheels." Along with our freedom of driving came more independence from our parents. We took advantage of that and hung out more on the weekends with our friends to make memories that will be cherished for a lifetime. Now we can look forward to our next two years at BHS to make more.

We made it through our first year at Batesville High School, the dreaded freshmen year. We managed to overcome the worries and fears that every high school frosh has their first year in the new "big school." Some of us fit right in with the upperclassmen, while the rest of us took our time and got the feel of the school and the people in it before getting friendly with them. New things were being introduced to us all of the time: different people, block scheduling, all kinds of teachers and classes. Each day carried some kind of new knowledge and held memories that were meant to last forever. We were the first class to have FLEX in the auditorium everyday of the week; lucky us, right? Despite this, we became a part of new and exciting things: sports, clubs, and other activities BHS has to offer. Now we are looking forward to what the next three years have to bring.

"No more pencils, no more books, no more teacher's dirty looks..." Alice Cooper sure knew what he was talking about in his classic song, but his words were not always the case around Batesville High School. Many teachers and students had good relationships where the students felt they could go to a teacher when in need or if they needed someone to help them out. The 2004-2005 school year was just another example of this occurrence. This closeness gave students something to look forward to when coming back for another year of school after they had been "out for the summer."

While some students at Batesville High School looked forward to flex as a break from schoolwork and a time to relax, others used the opportunity to attend club meetings. These students realized that being a valuable part of their school and community was both rewarding and fun. Being a member of a club provided opportunities to make new friends, prepare for college, and get involved with something fun. Whether they were skiing at Perfect North, rock climbing at Bradford Woods, or performing onstage, students created priceless memories that they will cherish forever.

The many Talents of BHS

By: Nick Dwenger

Batesville Singers has always been a great way to show off students' performing talents. It involves a mix of great singing and choreography. One of the great things about Batesville Singers is the exciting traveling that they get to do. In past years they've gone to Toronto, New York, and New Orleans, just to name a few. This year they performed at Disney World in Orlando, FL.

Being part of Batesville Singers took a lot of dedication. Students tried out and then met every day to practice their skills. They had great leadership from Mrs. Zwink and April James, their choreographer. All of this strenuous practice really paid off at competitions they entered.

"The best part of being in Batesville Singers is having a supportive audience. It's great to see all of our family and friends traveling to come and see us perform," said Brett Enneking, freshman.

The Batesville Singers were able to put on a lot of great shows this year. They made a great impression when they met at Ben Davis High School in Indianapolis.

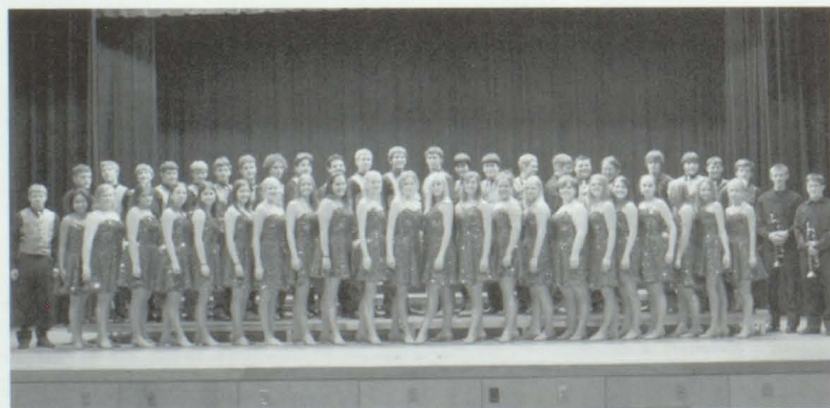

"My favorite memory from this year was placing third at Ben Davis High School in Indianapolis. It was really important because last year we placed last," said Kendall Summers, junior.

Batesville Singers was a great way to broaden horizons and do what students loved at the same time. It involved lots of hard work and dedication, but ultimately paid off in the end.

Choir Takes it Away

By: Nick Dwenger

The members of concert choir showed outstanding performance again this year. The members, who only met every other cycle, had to work twice as hard to perform at their best, read music, and perfect their songs.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Zwink, the members were able to put on several great performances including the spring and Christmas concerts. However, the highlight of the year for many was the Rural Alliance of the Arts contest, where they achieved the highest rating available.

"Getting a number one rating at the RAA contest was great, we all did a great job and sang well together," said Kaleigh Dyer, freshman.

One of the great things about choir was that it provided a chance for students to sing with people from other schools. At the Ripley County Festival, the Batesville choir sang together with students from other schools around the county.

"The Ripley County Festival was a lot of fun. I really enjoyed meeting new people," said Cami Fledderman, freshman.

The choir once again showed their expertise at the District Festival in Columbus. They were able to receive a top rating of gold for their efforts.

"The best part of choir was pulling off a miracle superior rating at the Organizational Contest in April," said John Heil, junior.

All in all it was a great year for the students in choir. They had many great performances despite only being able to meet every other cycle.

What did you like most about choir?

"Choir is a lot of fun because Mrs. Zwink is awesome and I love singing," said Erika Cobb, freshman.

Shake It!

Alex Enneking

"Shake what yo mama gave ya" was dance team's team moto, and yes, they did know how to shake it. Performing in front of many different crowds gave them all a rush. When the crowd cheered for them, they knew all the hard work was worth it.

"I loved dancing in front of everyone because at the end of each dance, the crowd went wild and I could hear all of my friends cheering for me," said Heather Meyer, senior.

They started out during football season, where they danced during the half times on the track. After football came basketball season where the girls became more involved in the dances as well as more comfortable in front of the crowd.

"When the crowd got involved and started cheering, it made things a lot easier for us because we knew they were liking what we were doing," said Shelley Mitchell, junior.

Like all teams, it's hard to say goodbye when the time comes. However, knowing that they had a great year with many memories and fun times made it a little easier.

And the Winner is...

All the dancing in front of crowds was just practice for what was coming up later in the year. The team went to Lawrenceburg High School to compete in their first ever competition. They placed second out of six in the opening category, and then second out of two in the novist division. "For their first competition, it went very well," said Randi Stirn, coach.

Mini-Dancers

Every year, the dance team holds a Mini Dance Camp for fourth through eighth graders. The mini-dancers got to choose either an advanced or beginning dance. They also learned a team bonding activity, so they knew how to get along with people. "It was a lot of fun to get to know the kids," said Ari Wehr, sophomore.

Drama Club

Taking It To The Stage

Lights, camera, action! The Batesville High School Drama Club presented two productions that were enjoyed by many. One production was held in the fall while the other, the annual musical, was performed in the spring. Both of the shows were directed by Mrs. Lisa Barnett and Mr. Leon Enneking.

In the fall, the cast presented "A Night of Scenes and Monologues." This show was different from traditional plays in that it was a compilation of excerpts from famous plays.

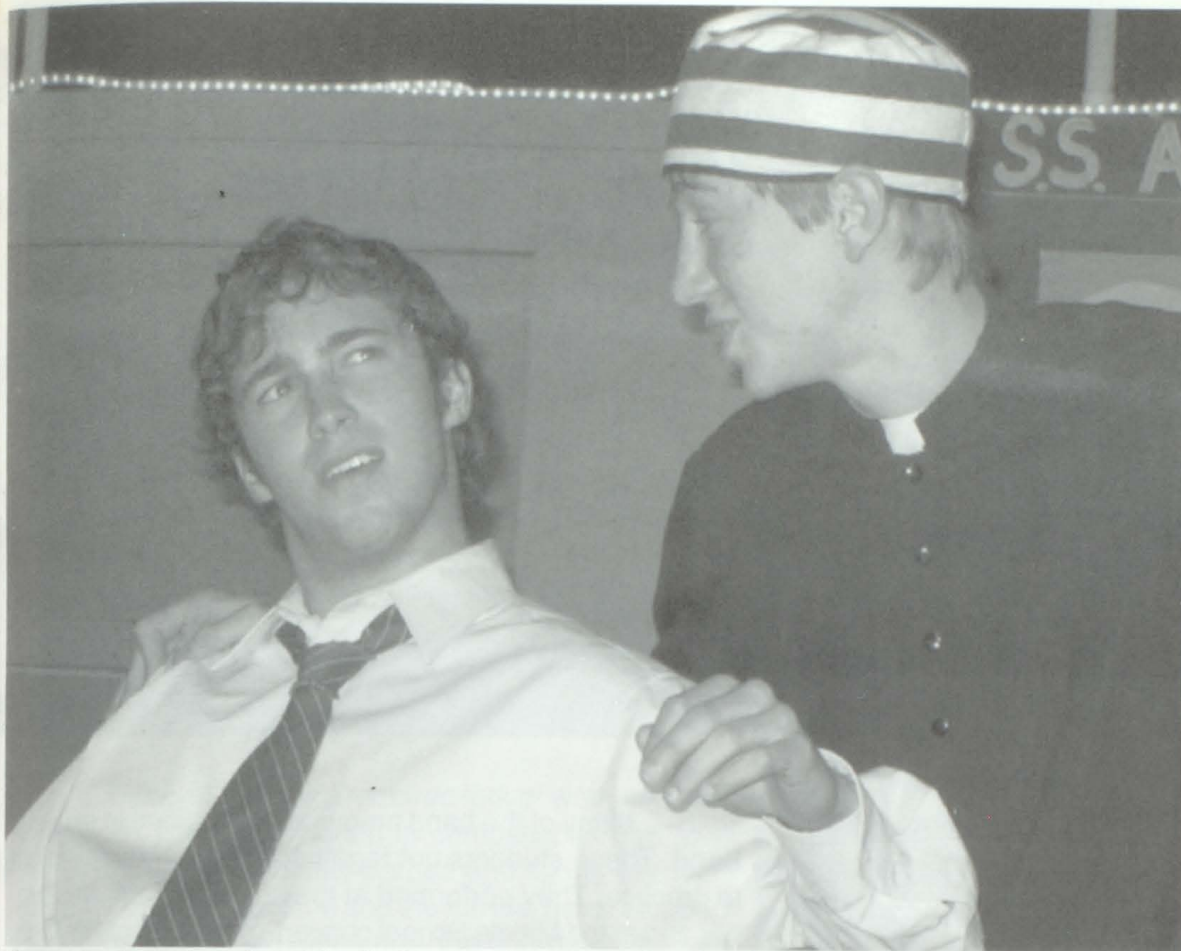

Some popular scenes were from plays such as "It's A Wonderful Life," "Little Women," and "Charlie Brown." A scene about a girl with a cotton candy obsession made the crowd laugh.

In the spring, drama students presented "Anything Goes," a play about a boat on a voyage. On board was a man who posed as a criminal. The criminal was trying to win back the love of his life. Lead performers were Alex Wehr as Reno, Charlie Lang as Billy, Chandler Zwink as Hope, Alex Siefert as Mooney, Alicia Siefert as Bonnie, and Peter Salib as Evelyn.

Both performances were reported as successes, with much help from the experienced senior leaders. The club had ten seniors in the cast and four in the orchestra.

And the Band Marches On

This was another fun and exciting year for the band, led by Mr. Doug Norton. The year started off with the fun yet challenging band camp. The students spent a week at St. Mary-of-the-Woods College in Terre Haute, practicing ten hours a day to master their drills and marches.

"Band camp was fun because I got the chance to meet new friends, and all my other bandmates," said Rebecca Hankel, freshman.

The practice didn't end at band camp though. The band continued to practice every day in fourth period, and every Tuesday from five to seven at night. Once school started the band played regularly at all of the football games and marched in local parades.

"The best part of band is that there isn't any homework and the competitions are a lot of fun," said Lizzy Pomeroy, freshman.

Throughout the year the band performed regularly at all the home basketball games, and fired up the students at pep rallies.

Many of the band members also joined in on Jazz Band. These students got together every Thursday night to practice. They performed at the annual Spaghetti Supper and at the Middle School concert. This band plays fun jazz, and blues music. This is quite different from the music that was played in marching and concert band.

Being in the band required lots of work and concentration. The band played in competitions and local events such as the holiday parade and sports events. It was a year long dedication and the fun just never stopped. From parades to football games, the entertainment they provided was enjoyed by everyone.

Flag Corps

The Flag Corps team this year put on many great shows. Members of Flag Corps use a unique blend of dance and flag twirls that makes for a great performance.

They were most often seen accompanying the band during marches and performances. Their talent could be seen during their lively half time shows during football season.

The entertaining dances and maneuvers this year were choreographed by Mrs. Norton and Shelly Mitchell.

"Practices were the best part of flag because everyone always had a great time. Everyone in band and flag was great to be around," said freshman Kelsea Rubush.

What was your favorite part of Flag Corps?

"Colorguard is a great way to get involved in music and to express yourself," said Shelley Mitchell, junior.

Why did you love
Academic

Academic Team

The 'A' Team

Some people hated getting up and going to school every day. Others may have enjoyed the learning experience and even participated outside of the school with academic team. Whatever subject it may be, these students studied all of their materials in hopes of helping their grades, as well as their team.

When people think academic team, they think of the old stereotype of straight 'A' students with pocket protectors and glasses sitting in a room with calculators and computers.

In reality, this picture was pretty far from the truth. The academic team wasn't just for students who got straight A's; it was for any student who wanted to succeed in academics.

The team practiced hard in hopes of doing well in their annual academic meets. How does one study for an academic team meet?

The answer is simple. All you need to do is log-in and run a program that gives you questions in the four main subjects. Participants find academics to be fun, yet challenging.

The team competed in several meets throughout the school year.

"We had five meets in the fall. In the spring we go to a superbowl (meet with nine teams) and if we do well we go to state," said Tom Call, sophomore.

The team started the season strong with two wins and a second place, and then finished last for the other two meets.

The team did not care if they won or lost, they were just out there to have a good time and to learn more. Being on the academic team really helped the students to excel in school and to make new friends. It was a great experience and a good time knowing that they were having fun and learning at the same time.

Playing It Safe

Every day kids are faced with decisions about drugs, alcohol, and other forms of peer pressure. Students Against Destructive Decisions (SADD) helped them cope with everyday struggles dealing with peer pressure. They learned how to say no and how to avoid any confrontations leading to trouble.

SADD used to stand for Students Against Drunk Driving, but since there are so many other pressures in this world, they changed the name. The SADD organization went through a change, as well as the SADD club here in the high school. Jason Slopsema took over as the SADD sponsor this year with the departure of Aaron Chester. Jason Slopsema said, "I myself make these decisions[not to drink and do drugs] so why not be a sponsor to those who choose to do the same and to make others aware of it."

The members of the SADD club met once a month to discuss ways to deal with current problems or issues going on throughout their lives, or their peers' lives.

The students took part in events such as red ribbon week where they distributed red ribbons that represented being drug and alcohol free. They also were in charge of Prom Promise. The week of prom many activities took place that helped to persuade students to make good decisions, such as the Grim Reaper Day.

SADD helped make students aware of the consequences of drinking and drugs. It also helped to make them aware of what could happen if they decided to make poor decisions.

Achieving New Accomplishments

Student Council played an important part of the school year. The student body voted on the members to represent them and to be their link to the teachers, faculty, and school board. It was the one way that the students and the faculty could compromise on some of the things that went on throughout the school year.

"I am very satisfied with the way things went this year; there was great communication between the Student Council officers and the faculty and principal," said Student Council President John Moton. He also said that communication this year was a lot better than it has been in previous years and that great steps were made to connect the students and the school board.

Student Council achieved many great accomplishments that made the school a better place. One accomplishment the student body enjoyed the most was Semi II. Semi II was a take-off of the fall Semi except it was a little more casual. Freshmen through seniors all showed up and had good time at the added social event.

Student Council also raised money for the

Improving the Community One Step at a Time

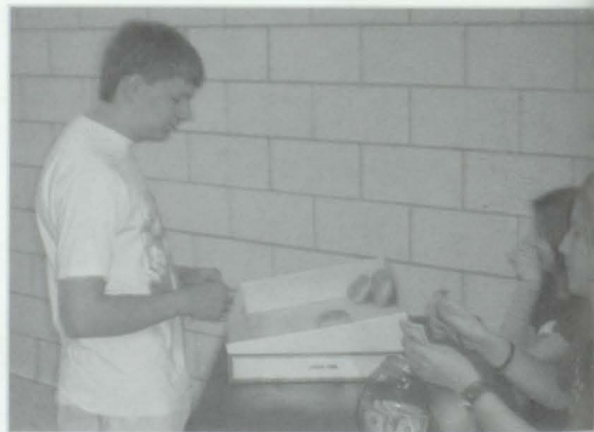

Key Club is a branch of the local Batesville Kiwanis club that allows young people and students to help their community. This club is most famous for collecting pop tabs and for selling doughnuts every Friday morning. Mr. Lemen, Key Club advisor, and all the other members have made it a tradition that they have done for many years. This has been beneficial for the students who eat the doughnuts and for the community to which the profits go to.

"My favorite part of Key Club is collecting pop tabs. I look forward to it because I enjoy counting them. It is definitely the best service project we do," said junior Cole Dunlevy.

One important aspect of this club is all the great service projects done throughout the year to benefit the community. They painted pumpkins for local elderly people and had a canned food drive for the Batesville Ministreal Food Pantry. They also participated in the March of Dimes and Bowl-a-thon to raise money for sufferers of Cystic Fibrosis.

Key Club is always great for students that want to get involved and help out the community. It is a very fun, easy way for students to get more active.

NHS

Striving Efforts Pay Off

By participating in National Honors Society, students were able to give back to the community through various ways. NHS is the front-runner of organizations and societies that promote appropriate recognition for students who reflect outstanding accomplishments in many different areas. Some include scholarships, leadership, and service. To be participate, students must be inducted into NHS. Each student must be a junior or senior, have a cumulative grade average of 94.5%, and show other leadership qualities.

"I enjoy being a part of NHS because I know it will look good on my college applications and the work we do is for a great cause," said junior Lorie Borgman.

In addition to being a great student, each member also had to complete ten hours of community service and attend monthly meetings.

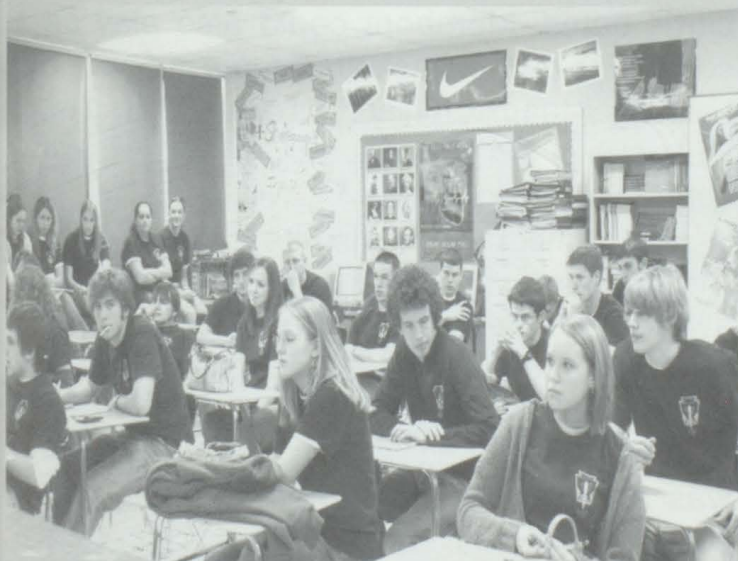

"National Honor Society is a great opportunity to acknowledge the students who achieve success," said Mrs. Rose Lacey, the NHS advisor.

NHS also participated in a number of different fundraisers. Every year, NHS collects donations for Riley Children's Hospital. Each flex class collects money and tries to accumulate the most donations. The incentive for this project is to help a great cause and win a free pizza party. This year alone the students were able to raise exactly $1,200 for the Riley Children's Hospital.

It's obvious that NHS is a very well respected program that has made great strides each year.

Future Farmers of America

Growing Into the Future

It was 5 a.m. and the sun had just begun to rise. In a half hour the bus would leave for the fair in Louisville. Everyone on the bus looked less than excited to be awake already. In less than two hours everyone would be competing in contests in an attempt to "bring home the gold" for the BHS Future Farmers of America.

These competitions could be grueling tests of knowledge for the members. FFA, however, didn't consist of everyone who you'd expect. True, there were a few who had been known forever as "the farm kids" but not everyone in FFA lived on a farm.

"It's awesome and provides a lot of opportunities, even though I don't live on a farm," said Jason Manlove, freshman.

FFA was for anyone looking to learn and compete for some of the area's most prestigious awards.

86 Clubs

Members competed in a variety of contests including county soil judging, county livestock judging, and Agricultural Day for all the first graders. They also raised money through citrus sales. Members could also play on a competing district basketball team in April. "The basketball team is fun and it's different from what we usually do in FFA," said Matt Flodder, sophomore.

Members were also treated to the Farm City Banquet, where they were eligible to receive awards for their participation.

By the end of the day of working at the fair in Louisville, most of the members were extremely tired and lacking energy, but there was a certain enthusiasm toward the day's accomplishments. As the bus pulled into the parking lot everyone unloaded and headed for home. Tomorrow everyone would need a fresh mind to begin preparing for the next event.

Why are you a member of FFA?

"You get the chance to meet new people and have a good time, You gotta git-r-done!" said Lynn Narwold, junior.

"It is fun because you get to get out of school to go to contests!" said Jake Nurhing, sophomore.

"I have been in FFA for more than 20 years, and it never starts becoming dull. It's worthwhile," said Mr. Shaw, FFA sponsor.

Anime

New Arrival

Alex Borgman

Who loves Anime Club? Batesville High School sure does. This new, upbeat club is a different kind of art brought to BHS by Japan. Led by the fearless Mr. Raab, the Anime club gathered weekly to explore the secrets of anime.

This year's Anime Club was the first ever at Batesville High School and first of this genre. There had never been a club at BHS that had to do with a foreign art.

The unique thing about it is that most people have never heard of anime and if they were asked what it was, they would say "I have no clue." However, almost everyone has seen forms of anime. A lot of cartoons nowadays are produced with anime, such as Digimon, Yu-Gi-Oh, etc.

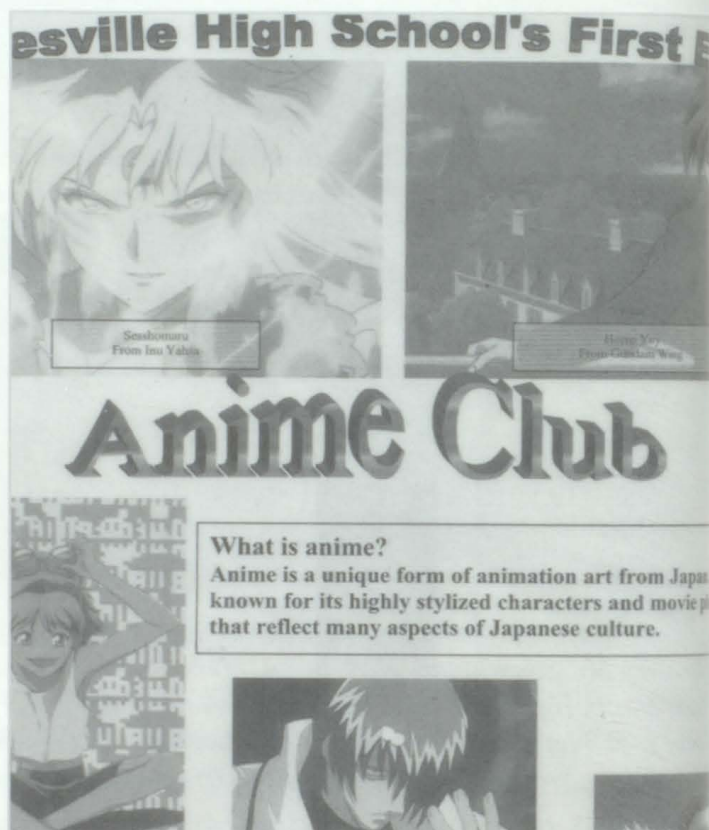

What did anime club do, you ask? They watched the different kinds of animations and analyzed what was going on. They discussed the impact of it on the culture.

"It was a great addition to BHS that helped students express themselves in other ways," said Mr. Raab, advisor.

Top: Ronny Livengood, Amy Chambers, Stephanie Beetz, Diana Wilcox, Janet Washburn, Amanda Morris, Cassidy Eckstein.

Above: A poster for Anime Club.

"I loved it. As Secretary, I get to make a lot of decisions on what we do. It makes me think in a way that I haven't experienced before," said Ronny Livengood, senior.

"It's a great addition to BHS. D.I. really makes students think in a different way than usual." -Rosena Kennedy, advisor

Destination Imagination

Live! It's Radio D.I.

Alex Enneking

This year, Batesville High School had a lot of new clubs, one being Destination Imagination (D.I.). So what was D.I. you may ask? D.I. was a club where a group of students gathered to compete by solving problems. Although it was the first year Batesville High School had been involved in this club, Batesville Middle School has been involved in it for years. It is seen in schools world wide and is taken very seriously during competitions.

There were five different types of challenges that D.I. was involved in, one being an instant challenge. An instant challenge is when a team performs a theatrical or structural task which they have five to six minutes to complete. They also competed in solving problems given to them right on the spot that they had no time to prepare for.

"This club is filled with difficult challenges, but they are fun. It's really just a different way to think," said Ali Caldwell, freshman.

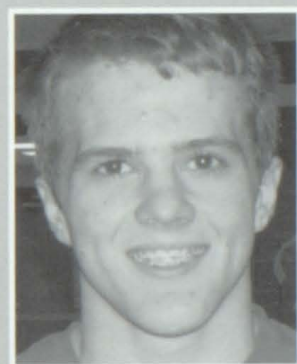

The team all agreed that it was a productive year, as well as a fun one. Everyone plans on returning next year, and is looking forward to it.

"I can't wait until next year because D.I. gives me, as well as the students, a chance to think in a way we usually don't in our everyday life," said Rosena Kennedy, advisor.

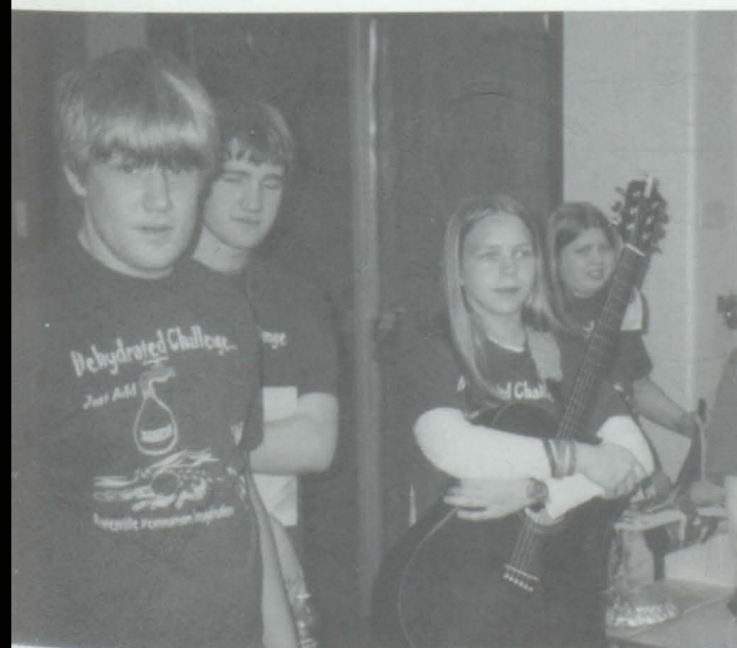

What did you like best about D.I.?

"It was interesting to work with other people." said Andrew Kennedy, sophomore

"It forces me to think outside the box." said Robert Waaser, sophomore

Leaders of Tomorrow. Today

Kiwanis Student Leadership Academy was a group dedicated to helping the community. Their goal was to help students learn skills to become better leaders. These determined students were split into three groups which all worked together to help people around the school and community. Each group had an adult sponsor and both a senior and junior leader.

It didn't take long for the students to get into the swing of things. In just the second week of school, they all made an exciting trip to Bradford Woods, near Bloomington, Indiana. They used a limited amount of supplies to build a raft, and then tested to see if it would carry them across a lake. The challenges enabled them to all learn to work together as a team. Other activities, such as climbing the rock wall, served to push people's own personal limits.

"Bradford Woods was a great experience. It enabled me to step outside my comfort zone and work harder than I ever thought I could before," said Sam Koopman, junior.

The members were able to carry these skills throughout the rest of the year. They participated in several service projects to benefit the community. They had a clean-up day where they picked up trash around town. They helped raise money for Safe Passage, a woman's shelter. They were also able to collect food for the food pantry, and organized a 5k run.

KSLA has always been a fun and easy way to help the community. By giving back a little, the students learned a lot about themselves, from being better individuals to being better leaders.

FCCLA

Future Career Community Leaders of America

The members of FCCLA and their sponsor, Mrs. Marcia Rehage worked very hard to serve their community. Their main focuses were leadership, setting good examples, and community service.

The group met once a month to discuss ways they could help the community. Some of their main projects were getting donations for Safe Passage and collecting toys. For Safe Passage the group raised a large amount of money and donated it to battered women. The toy raiser was one of their biggest successes. The toys were given to children that were less fortunate.

The FCCLA members have also done many fun activities. They have had an ice cream social and a Skyline party. The FCCLA lock-in is what all the members looked forward to all year. The lock in was held at the local YMCA where the members played games. Some of the activities planned were volleyball, dodge ball, and swimming. It was a time where they could all get together to socialize and have a good time after working hard to better their community.

FCCLA continues to strive to assist the community in as many ways as they can.

Ski Club

The Thrills of the Hills

To many students, winter was a time of cold and boring weekends. To the Batesville High School ski club, however, winter was their long awaited favorite season. On four Friday nights, the ski club took a bus all the way to Perfect North Slopes in Lawrenceburg to enjoy the thrill of skiing down the hills and hanging out with their friends.

Skiing, although difficult to master as a beginner, proves to be one of the most widely joined and exciting clubs at BHS. The students purchased a package to Perfect North Slopes in November which included lessons for first-time skiers as well as an all access pass for experienced skiers.

The ski club was different from all of the other clubs: they didn't have any club officers. They didn't have any meetings either, the group just gathered in the Spanish room on Friday afternoons waiting for the bus to arrive. Once they arrived at Perfect North, the kids participated in multiple activities. Many of the kids hit the slopes, while others took a break in the lodge, playing cards with their friends.

Either way, the students of the ski club enjoyed their winter weekends the fun and safe way. Although some of them took their spills, it was a learning experience that they will never forget.

"It's an excuse to get a discount to go skiing and snowboarding at Perfect North," Quinn Thomson, junior.

German Club

Megan Fledderman

Every Tuesday during Flex A and Flex B German Club met in Mr. Koors room for some fun. German Club was all about having a good time and experiencing something from a different culture. Everybody had an opportunity to try a little piece of Germany with every club meeting.

Korosi, club secretary laughing.

A typical day in German Club was eating Mr. Koors' famous bean dip, listening to some German music, and maybe watching a Disney movie in German.

"German Club is the perfect place to enlighten your Spanish speaking friends," said Allie

It was not all fun and games though. Batesville High School's German Club was invited to the University of Cincinnati (UC) to show off some of our German culture skills. "Competition was a lot of fun, but it was a lot of work too," senior Allison Wernke says. German Club started attending in April of 2004 and proudly returned April 2005.

"Hausbrahaus trips are awesome!" said senior Katie Nielsen.

"Spanish Club is exciting and something is always going on," said Spanish teacher Mrs. Lake

"Spanish Club is so much fun," said junior Nicole Egbert

"The best part of Spanish Club is the food," said Junior John Heil

Megan Fledderman

Spanish Club was the club to join for fun and some new cultural experiences. The club was sponsored by Mrs. Lake and Mr. Slopsema.

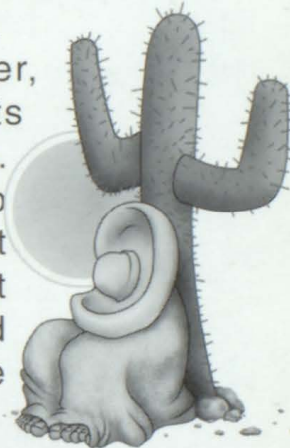

Like every year, members from Spanish Club raise funds for a child in a third world country.

Another big event that happened was traditional Fiesta Hispania. Fiesta Hispania was a huge celebration for the Latin influence in Batesville. Students in Spanish Club gathered and made quesadillas, decorated the cafeteria to resemble an authentic Latin fiesta, and served real Spanish dishes. Many people from Spanish speaking families and communities came to join in the fun.

Spanish Club did a lot of other things too, like play Tortuga, a Spanish speaking game. They also had a t-shirt making contest.

However, most students would agree. Spanish Club was all about having a great time. and learning the way.

Alternative Class

Getting Ahead of the Game

BHS was lucky enough to have many alternative classes that allowed students to go above and beyond the normal curriculum. These classes allowed students to get real life experience and to shadow others. It enabled students to get ahead of the game.

One popular alternative class was mentorship because it prepared students for careers that they were interested in. Students who took this class were able to shadow a person that did a job they might want to consider after graduating high school.

Some common places to mentor were Hillenbrand's Engineering or Margaret Mary Community Hospital's programs.

"I almost passed out when I saw a man get a nose reconstruction when I was mentoring at the hospital," said junior Carrie Giltz.

Another well-liked option was the college classes that were offered. For example, Ivy Tech allowed students to take college sociology, psychology, speech, or history. These credits were accepted at BHS, and would transfer to all state colleges after graduating. Students were able to take a free period for their time.

"I love being a teaching assistant because it gave me time to get a lot of my school work done," said Deb

Moll, senior.

English teacher Mrs. Grimsley also taught the Indiana University Advanced College Projects (ACP) class that conducted both composition and literature. It also transferred to colleges and allowed future college-bound students to have a lighter schedule.

Students were also able to take such classes as independent study or cadet teaching. Independent study mostly occurred when a student had a scheduling conflict, which then allowed students to take a class all by themselves.

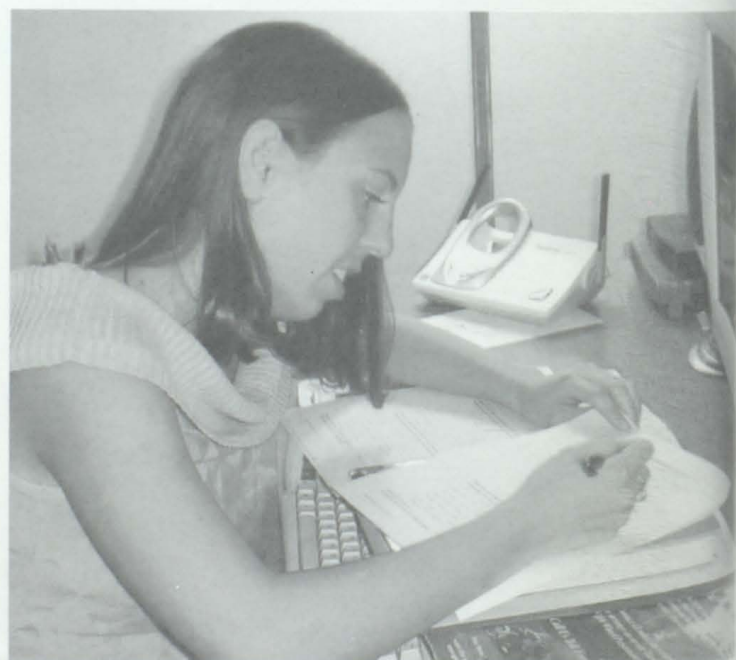

Former independent study classes included piano, voice, and Greek mythology. Cadet teaching was similar to mentorship, but the students helped different teachers at any of the community schools. They were able to teach younger children and prepare them for high school.

In addition, other alternative classes included peer tutoring and media center assistants.

"We like to encourage students to take these programs because students really do learn and get a lot out of them," said Ron Thomson, guidance counselor.

Hittin' the Books

Between preparing for tests and doing homework, being a student was very stressful. Many students had special study habits or little techniques to get prepared.

"Study habits prepared me for my tests," said Cara Broering, sophomore.

Using study habits really helped students progress in the classroom. One group of students had their own study habit that prepared them for vocabulary quizzes. They would make little catchy phrases or rhymes to help remember them.

Alex Borgman, one of the students, said, "One of our words was ornate which means decorate and we remember it by saying you decorate with ornaments."

Many of the students said that they didn't have study habits, and others made famous remarks about not studying.

Notecards were a common way to get prepared for a big test. Notecards were a sure deal for an 'A'.

Courtnei Weberding, senior, said, "I use notecards."

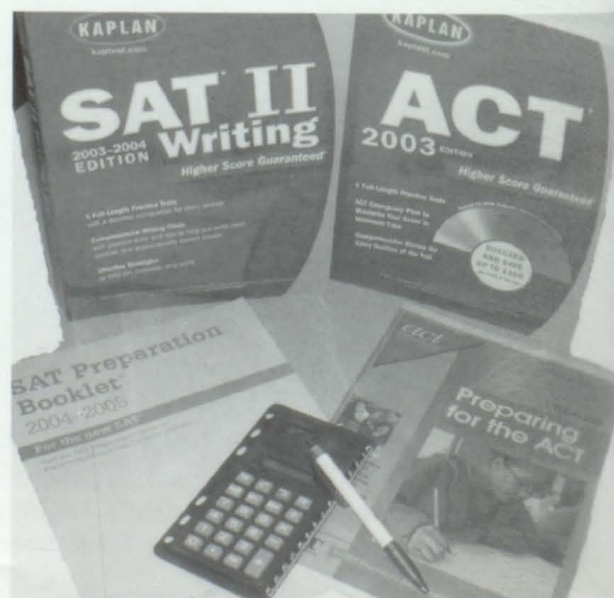

Along with notecards students also used music and made their environment more peaceful.

Everyone learned differently and that is why study habits varied among students. Some people didn't need to study or prepare for tests, it just came naturally to them.

Standardized testing was also something you couldn't get away from. Freshman were overwhelmed with NWEA and ISTEP. Sophomores had to take PSATS and ISTEPs. Juniors and Seniors worried about taking the SATS and ACTS.

"I never liked to study but it was something that I had to do to get good grades," said Ryan Paul, junior.

In order to succeed in school, studying was something that just had to be done.

"Study the night before and remember it for the test and then forget it," said Logan Rose, freshman.

What are your study habits or how do you feel about testing?

"I don't study," said Chelsea Bessler, freshman.

"Testing was boring and pointless," said Maggie Raab, freshman.

"The PSAT is good preparation for the SAT," said Bryanna Lee, sophomore.

"I didn't think the SAT was that hard," said Robbie Short, senior.

"I listen to music when I study," said Emily Burns, junior.

What will you remember most about one of Mr. Shaw's classes?

"I will never forget Mr. Shaw's field trip to King's Ranch. It was so much fun." Mark Osbourne, sophomore

"I will remember the great presentations given in Animal Science." Megan Dickman, senior

Mr. Shaw was Batesville High School's agriculture teacher. He taught an array of classes such as Animal Science, Horticulture, Fundamentals of Agriculture, and Natural Resources. Students reported the classes were packed with fun and plenty of new things to learn.

One of Mr. Shaw's students, senior Elaine Rennekamp said, "Mr. Shaw is an awesome teacher, and after awhile he really started to 'grow' on you."

Every year the Animal Science class gets to go on a field trip to King's Ranch. While there students learned how to groom and care for horses with some hands on experience.

"I actually got a horse to eat off of my hand, with some mild persuasion," said Kelly Decker, junior.

After the horse-grooming lesson, everybody got to enjoy some hamburgers grilled by Mr. Shaw himself. After the meal it kept getting better with activities like fishing, corn hole, volleyball, and some horse riding.

Students agreed Mr. Shaw's classes were a true treat.

Art class was definitely an experience. During art class students were given the opportunity to express themselves. It was one class that teachers let students be expressive with a chaotic mess. The more dirty students got during class, the more fun they seemed to have, and Mrs. McCabe and Mrs. Focke always made sure everybody had many opportunities.

The art classes accomplished several interesting projects both outside and inside of the school. One project that the Drawing/Painting and Advanced Art classes did was paint a mural on the side of Batesville Historical Society's building on Boehringer Street. There was a dedication ceremony for the mural on Friday, May 13.

Another exciting event that happened in some of the advanced art classes involved a guest print maker. He instructed the art students on how to carve stamps needed to make prints. The print making turned out to be a reported success as student works were displayed in the halls.

Foreign Exchange

Unlimited Opportunities

One great thing about life is that you are faced with endless opportunities. Many ambitious students took advantage of these chances and had the option to explore the world.

This past summer, Jimmy Turchyn, senior, and Ari Wehr, sophomore, both had the opportunity to go to a Spanish speaking country. Their trip allowed them to stay for six weeks with a family in their country. Ari traveled to Brazil, and Jimmy traveled to Mexico.

Not only do students go to Spanish speaking countries, but they also attend German speaking countries as well. During this upcoming summer, junior Amberli Myers will be traveling to Germany to stay for six weeks with a family there too.

"I'm looking forward to going to Germany because it's going to be a different experience for me. Anna Beckel also helped me prepare for my interview in order to go," said Myers.

As well as students leaving to see the world, foreign exchange students also come to Batesville. This year BHS was honored to have two new students, junior Anna Beckel and senior Sebastian Sepulveda.

Beckel came from Dortmund, Germany, where the population is over 600,000.

"My favorite part of Batesville would have to be the countryside and farmland because it's so different than where I come from. I'm not used to seeing farms everyday," said Beckel.

Anna arrived here in January and left in June. She stayed with sophomore Brooke Straber and her family.

"I'm going to miss Batesville, but it's going to be nice to go home. I miss my family, friends, and German chocolate because it's the best," said Beckel.

BHS was also happy to welcome Sebastian who came all the way from Colombia. He resided with Jordan Hawkins who is an 8th grader at the Middle School.

"I wanted to become an exchange student because I really wanted to learn English and become a fluent English speaker. I wanted to learn more about the English culture and the people," said Sepulveda.

Foreign exchange students had the opportunity of a lifetime to go and live in a distant country.

"I expected only to eat fast food when I came to the United States because that's what I had been told they ate," said junior Anna Beckel.

What's your favorite memory with one of our foreign exchange students?

"The first time Sebastian listened to me play my guitar he thought it was too loud. I guess he wasn't used to real music," said Justin Rowland, junior

"Sebastian would always help me with my Spanish homework and prepare for tests," said Kendall Summers, junior

"Anna taught me how to play a different version of ping pong and magic card tricks," said Amber Gutzwiller, junior

Newspaper

Getting It Published

By: Angela Fullenkamp and Carrie Giltz

Newspaper basically explains itself. It was a class that worked hard to get school news published. The one thing that many people do not know about the class is that it was actually more like a business than a class. The students had to work hard to meet deadlines and to get the newspaper published on time just as any other journalist would that works for a large company.

The newspaper process was difficult and stressful. They started out by making a list of possible story ideas. They then decided which story would go where and who was going to write it. After that the students were assigned their story idea and got down to business. They made a list of people they needed to interview and possible pictures and questions. They then did their interviews and were ready to start their story. The designers worked hard to make the perfect design for each story. Finally, they put it all together, asked Mr. Olinger to sign off on the paper, and it was then on its way to the printer.

Along with the stress there were the fun times. "I will never forget my newspaper class. Chris Heil always was making me laugh. Corn on the Cobb is awesome. I will never forget euchre and the mullets," said Mattie Fraser, senior.

The seniors played a big role in the newspaper class. They all really stepped it up and pulled a lot of the weight. Miss Stultz, newspaper advisor, said, "It was a learning year, working out the kinks, figuring out a good system. Overall I was pleased with the class, but there is always room for improvement."

GOVERNMENT

By: Angela Füllenkamp and Carrie Giltz

A Quest For Learning

"Life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness," "God bless America", and "We the People" were just a few sayings you might have heard if you were in Mr. Allen's government class.

Like all classes the government class had certain criteria they had to complete. A few of the topics on the list were fundamental rights, political theory, civil rights, and history of the presidents.

Throughout the year they did a lot of projects on political theories. One of the main projects was when they wrote and passed bills. Student were able to write bills for students in the class, the state, or worldwide. Mr. Seright, who served as president, then came over and decided whether or not the bills would be passed.

Mr. Allen had a few goals to accomplish by the end of the year. He worked hard to help students gain a better understanding of politics and government.

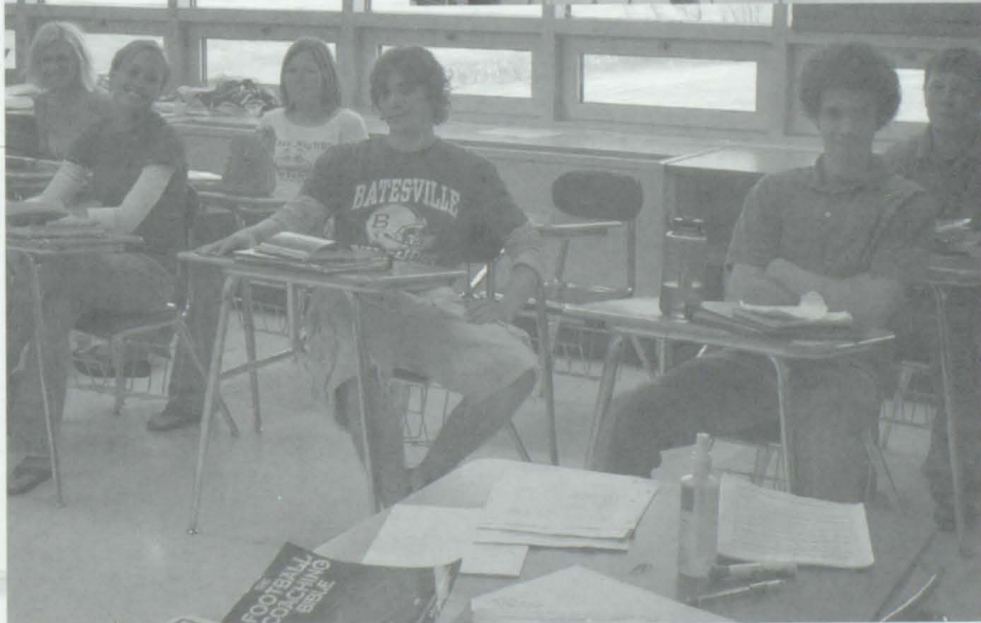

"I'm always pleased when students develop a political identity and have an understanding of current events," said Mr. Allen, government teacher.

Dogs Make the Game Come Alive

"BREAK!" The Batesville High School varsity football team got anything but that this year as they brought their fans many Friday nights of excitement and entertainment. The team of 45 guys, ranging from the young freshmen to the knowledgeable seniors, worked hard to unite as one and conquer their tough season schedule. The team started off in a bad position, losing some of their main players at the beginning of the football season due to disciplinary actions and injuries. Things started going downhill as they lost three games in a row, the first time since 1998. But the team didn't let that bring them down, and they went out on the field during the next Friday night's game and redeemed themselves.

Despite this rough schedule, the guys managed to achieve yet another sectional victory; their fourth consecutive sectional win. The team accomplished another exceptional feat this season; this year marked the seventh winning season in a row for the football team. According to varsity coach Eric Heppner, "Before this string of winning seasons, the most in a row in BHS history was three." What was the team's secret to accomplishing this task? Coach Heppner believes it has a lot to do with the players' attitudes throughout the season. "I was very proud of how positive the players remained throughout the course of the season, even when things weren't going so well. I know that is why we were eventually able to get things on the right track by the end of the season," Heppner said.

For the third year in a row the Bulldogs met up on the field with the number one team in the state, Heritage Hills. They came closer than ever this year to defeating the Patriots in the regional game. But in the end, the Dogs were overpowered once again by their rivals. In spite of this, the varsity team did an excellent job this season and, as always, Batesville fans were proud of their every effort.

Jump Ahead

Bump it, set it, spike it, that's the way the lady dogs like it. Victories, memories, and even tough losses were a part of the season. Laughs and tears were shared together. No matter what, neither fears nor challenges kept the ladies from accomplishing what they set out to do.

Three seniors led the Dogs: Alex Enneking, Amber Fledderman, and Katherine Rogers. Senior, Amber Fledderman said, "My last year as a volleyball player was super duper fun. I had many laughs with my teammates. I was proud of how we came together and played."

There were also three freshmen to join the team: Cami Fledderman, Emily Fledderman, and Megan Siebert. There was some controversy when the three youngsters started on the squad. Many people disagreed with the decision, but came to realize it was a good choice. The girls contributed greatly and fit right in. The Lady Bulldogs finished the season with a 22-12 record. The Dogs had an awesome season.

The team was very young, but still reached many of their goals. There were a few rough spots along the way, but the team came together and fixed their problems. The varsity team became very close and created friendships which helped them in their success.

Golf team leaves a mark

The 2004 women's golf season proved to bring many fun memories. This year the girls got a chance to advance all the way to Regionals. They all worked really hard and tried their best.

More importantly, though, they were all able to have a great time. "I just laughed at myself every game because I was the worst player there," said Brooke Straber, sophomore. To the girls it wasn't all about winning, but more about having fun and trying hard.

"I was very happy with the way the season turned out. I was nervous coming to a new team, but I am quit happy with the results. Everyone got along well and it was a fun season," freshman Ashley Meyers

"I'm looking forward to next year because I think we will have a great team. Since the majority of the team were freshman this year, we'll all have more experience and will be more successful next year," freshman Tess Bedel.

"I was proud that we at least we didn't come in last at Regionals," added Ashley Meyers, freshman.

All of the girls have their favorite memories from the season. "I hit a golf ball on the road and it was run over by the car," said Lindsay Edwards, freshman, "It ended up busting the car's tire."

Another great memory that Tessa Bedel, freshman, had was when Coach Tom Meyer encouraged her on a day she was doing badly. "Since golf doesn't have cheerleaders, Coach tried to encourage me by making up a cheer," she said.

Along with all the good memories came a few scary ones. "We were coming back from South Dearborn and the bus started shaking," recalled Janice Merkel and Kristen Bergman, seniors. "We really thought the bus was going to break down and leave us stranded."

This year brought a lot of new faces to the golf team. Of the eight team members, only three were seniors who had played in previous years, while the other five had just started this year. "This is a really young team, and this year really paved the way for next season," said Ashley Meyers. The seniors all agreed in saying that the new girls show a lot of promise in the seasons to come.

Tennis Dynasty The Reign Continues

The men's tennis team has continually proved to be the most successful team at Batesville High School. The team completed their fourteenth straight Sectional title and tenth straight conference title this season. Other accomplishments include an undefeated season as well as a Regional title. The team consisted of five All-Conference players including conference MVP Clint Salatin.

The coaching of Mr. Jack Froman played a large part in their success. As Froman completed his tenth year as head coach, his love for the game motivated many of the players. One must not leave out the assistant coach, Mike Siefert, who also played a large role in the team's success.

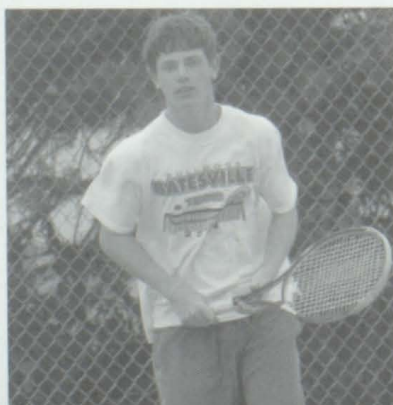

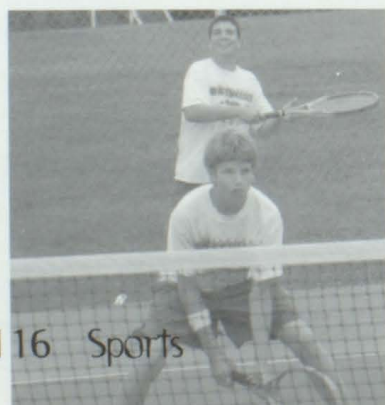

The players' love for the game and total dedication also played a huge part in their success. Froman held camps last summer to better prepare them for the season. Most of the members practiced twice a week to keep up on their skills. Tuesday and Thursday nights were designed for the players to come to the courts and hit around with each other. Most of the players took advantage of this time, and it obviously paid off.

"Every year Greensburg proves to be our biggest rival and the match against them is a good test to show how good we really are," said varsity player Derek Foster, junior. This year, Batesville defeated Greensburg as well as many other teams from around the state. After going all the way to Semi-State, they suffered a tough loss to Carmel. Despite this loss, they accomplished their goals of winning the EIAC and becoming the regional champs.

Cross Country's Most Exciting Year Yet

None of the runners on the 2004 Cross Country team ever imagined that this year would be so exhilarating. Both the men's and women's teams overcame many obstacles this year and had loads of fun while doing it.

The goal for both teams this year was to reach semi-state status and beat their previous times. Both teams did just that as they qualified for semi-state and improved on a daily basis.

"Semi-state had to be the best part of the entire season. We made a bet with Coach Turchyn and Coach McAllister that if we won we would get to paint their fingernails," said junior Janice Laker.

"Jake Nuhring and I even went mud sliding after semi-state," added junior Tyler Roell.

Other accomplishments during this season included doing exceptionally well against their two biggest rivals, East Central and Rushville. Against Rushville, both teams placed fifth and at East Central they both placed a surprising first. Both teams were also able to place third at I.H.S.A.A. Sectionals as well as Regionals.

A Great Season Ended Too Soon

Story by: Jonathan Lambert

The men's soccer team completed another successful year. Eight senior leaders provided the skills and experience needed for a winning season.

The underclassmen also offered a lot of talent which added to the team's winning record of ten wins, two ties, and four losses.

Coach Mike Robertson, and assistant coach Chris Fox, could not have been happier as their team came out with a win in the Batesville Invitational. Batesville finished on top of tough competition which included Centerville, Corydon Central, and Morristown, whom the Bulldogs defeated in the finals.

The Bulldogs worked hard all season long and continuously prepared for Sectionals. However, their dream of a Sectional championship ended with a 2-3 overtime loss to East Central.

"We stuck with them and played well the whole game but just came up short in the end. I was really proud of our effort," said Kyle Laker, senior. The Bulldogs were defeated by a worthy opponent, as the Trojan soccer team went on to become the State runner-up.

Batesville continued to build their soccer program with the success of the men's varsity team. The seniors contributed much over the course of four years; now the underclassmen must use the skills taught to them by the seniors to meet their goal of a Sectional win next year.

The ladies' soccer season started with some breathtaking victories against a few of our spirited rivals including South Ripley, Greensburg, and Franklin County. With an 8-8-1 record, it was safe to say that overall our lady's soccer team lived up to their expectations.

Not only was their record successful, all of the teammates seem to have had a pretty enjoyable time as well.

"Anything that Abbie Nobbe does is the funniest thing ever. She knows how to make soccer practice and games a good time. She cracks me up!" said Crystal Williams, junior, on Abbie's soccer antics.

According to sophomore Libby Haakinson, the best part of the season was the parade which she said, "was a blast!" Trisha Glaub, sophomore, thought another memorable aspect to the year was the seniors on the team.

"They kept it interesting! Soccer was a blast this year and I'm going to miss the seniors next season!" said Glaub.

Abbie Nobbe's favorite part of soccer was when Crystal Williams would blame all of her problems during a practice or a game on her imaginary scapegoat Lucy.

Although the season ended quickly when the ladies struggled against East Central in the first round of sectionals, they still had a great time and a season record of 8-8-1.

Taking a step up from last year, the Bulldogs had an exciting season with nail-biters and blowouts. The Dogs had something to prove to people this year after last year's less-than-desirable season. The Dogs, though young, managed to fight their way to a second place conference finish, second place Ripley County Tourney finish, a 6-4 E.I.A.C. record, and a second round loss in Sectionals.

"We had a young team, but we worked hard everyday to improve the things that made us a good team," said Coach Melvin Siefert.

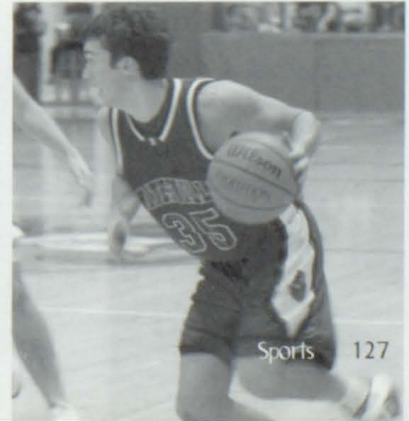

Going into the season, the Dogs knew they would have to work hard to be successful.

"It was a year that I will never forget. The team made things exciting and worthwhile," said Alex Siefert, sophomore.

By: Alex Enneking

"I absolutely loved this year! I loved cheering in the front row of the student section, and the team made it a year that I will always remember," said Thomas Streit, senior.

When you are a senior on a sports team, it's hard to leave. Seniors Cullin Enzinger and Charlie Lang both said they will miss the team, as well as the sport. As for Coach Siefert, he said that the seniors played a huge role in the team and will be missed very much.

Bad Luck Brings Tough Season

The Lady Bulldogs started the season off with an upsetting loss against the Brown County Eagles. The team knew right then that victory wouldn't be something that was handed to them. The girls learned the hard way through tough practices, intense games, and mental strain.

The team started to pick up the pace with three straight wins in the conference. The girls then experienced a heartbreaking loss against Union County, when the Patriots hit a three pointer at the buzzer to win the game. East Central was a pick up when the Dogs defeated the Lady Trojans 59-48.

They were all starting to click together and really thought that the season was about to turn around when they were hit with more bad luck. Angela Fullenkamp broke her wrist and was out for the season, and several girls were out due to illnesses. The team then decided that they all needed to step it up, but they just couldn't get anything to fall their direction. They ended up losing the Ripley County Tourney to South Ripley in the first round.

Coach Connie Dickman was frustrated but had faith in her team, hoping they would be the "Cinderella" team for their sectionals. The lady dogs just couldn't pull it off when they experienced the frustrating loss against Rushville. The team was young this year, it was a season to see who would be able to handle the pressure next year. The girls worked hard and tried their best, but bad luck got the best of them.

Lagin' The Smackdown

The record of the wrestling team didn't tell the entire story of the many talented wrestlers that were on the squad. Every meet, the team had to give up 36 points to their opponent due to the lack of kids in the lower weight classes. Despite the deficit that the team had to endure at the beginning of each match, they were still able to battle back from behind to win four different meets.

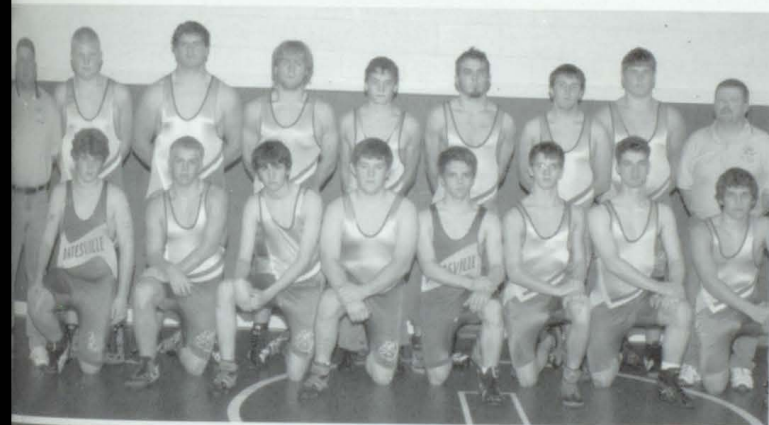

The wrestling team was young, but was led by four seniors: Tony Armogida, John Schutte, Curtis Miller, and Josh Doll. These seniors left their legacy behind which ensured the future success of upcoming wrestling teams. They experienced four great years of Batesville High School wrestling that they surely will never forget. The teams final record was 4-13. Two of their victories came against the Franklin County Wildcats and the Lawrenceburg Tigers, who have proved to be conference rivals in the past. Six of their thirteen losses were by less than twenty points.

"I am looking forward to next year because we will have a lot of new freshmen that will be able to fill in the lower weight classes," said sophomore Matt Krieger.

With the lack of athletes taken into account, the team had a very successful year. If those first thirty-six points were taken from their opponent and given back to the Bulldogs, the team would have won well over half of their meets and had a much improved record.

Makin' a Splash To Win the Dash

The Batesville Swim Team has been around for three years now. Each year they continue to get better and better. This year the team was joined by seven new freshman and a few additional upperclassman. The team was looking to improve their record from last year, even though they had three seniors graduate.

The team started conditioning for the season in mid-October. With all the new faces they needed enough time to be able to work well together.

In most sports at Batesville High School the team will practice after school until around five or six, not the swim team. The team operated just a little differently than all the others. They left every night at 5:15, drove to Milan, and didn't return home until around 8:00 each night. The bus rides to and from Milan each evening helped the team

Not only did they develop time management skills but they also met a new group of people, learned how to swim various styles and strokes, and also had an awesome high school experience.

"It always felt good when I made an

New Coaches. New Friends. New Memories

A group of fresh faces and two new coaches meant a whole new cheerleading squad. Christine Stultz and Angela Cress, the two new coaches, took over the ambitious team. Since most of the cheerleaders graduated last year, the coaches knew it would be difficult to find an entire new squad.

"This year we focused on rebuilding the cheerleading program, and it was difficult because a lot of the girls were first year cheerleaders. We had to work hard on the fundamentals and went from there," said head coach Christine Stultz.

The cheerleading season started off with a week of camp. However, the squad had to spend the duration of the camp in Batesville because they had gotten a late start of signing up.

"I really benefited from camp and thought it was a great experience. I think I liked staying in Batesville better because we were able to get more one-on-one help when we needed it," said Maggie Raab, freshman.

Because of the shortage of cheerleaders, many first year cheerleaders got a chance to come out and shine. The young group of girls did more than just cheer though, more importantly, they had fun.

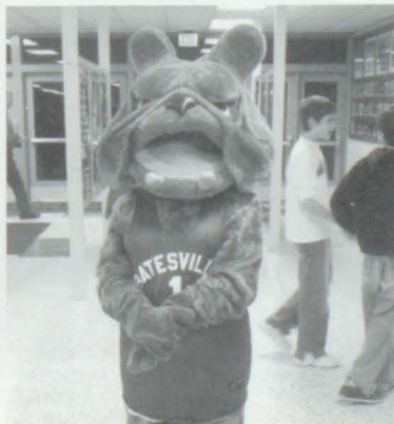

"The funniest memory I had was when Laura Laker, Shelly Mitchell, and I were doing the chair lift. My right foot suddenly started to twitch and I lost my balance. They ended dropping me in midair. I will never forget that," said Jenna Rowland, sophomore.

"I also really enjoyed this cheerleading season. My favorite part of cheerleading was doing stunts. I loved experimenting with different routines at practice. It made the experience so much better," said Shelly Mitchell, junior.

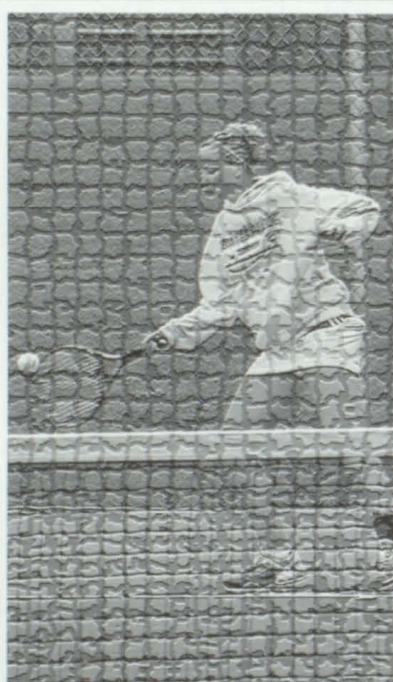

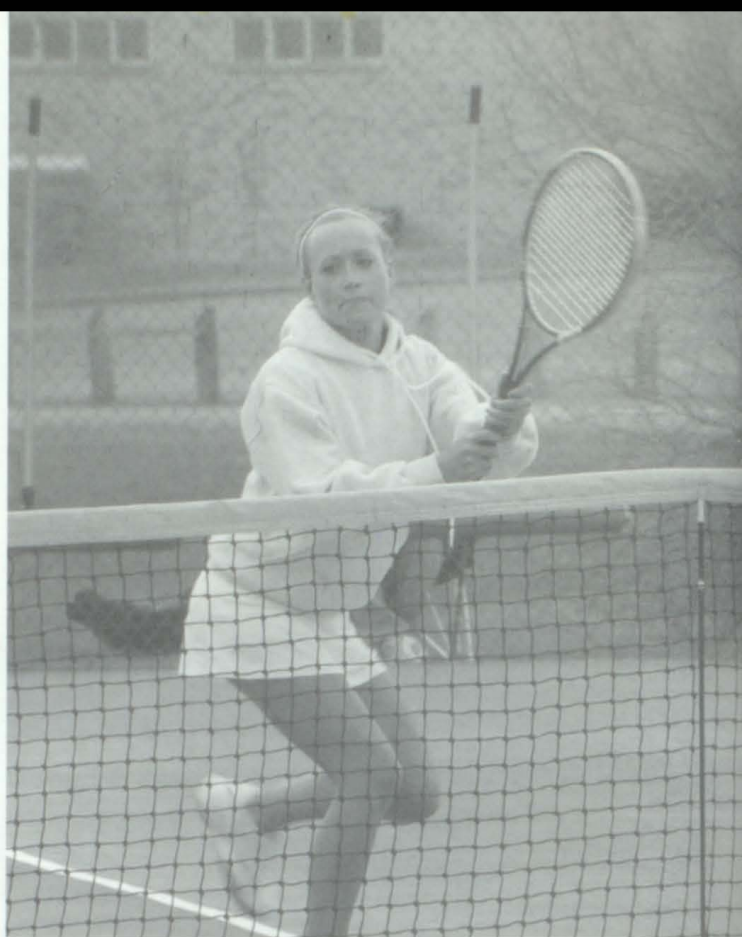

"Doing different stunts was also what I looked forward to at practice and during games. My favorite games to cheer at were the boys basketball games. There was always so much energy in the crowd and we all fed off of it," said Tess Bedel, freshman.

All the girls agreed that this season was worthwhile and a terrific experience.

Heeey Batter Batter

After all the snow had gone and spring came about, you could hear the ting of the baseball bats from the field. This year's team couldn't wait to start, and once they did, they didn't want to stop.

"At first, the practices were intense, but we all knew we had to push ourselves in order to be successful," said Justin Rowland, junior.

All of the practices paid off, for when the first game came around, the team knew what they were doing, and dominated. The first half of the season was very successful for the Bulldogs. They went on a 10-5 streak.

"I was very impressed with how they started off. Everyone came out to play," said Coach Smith.

One of the exciting things that happened t was when Adam Israel broke the 1994 strike-out record. The record was set at 83 strike-outs in 94.1 innings by Alan Meyer. Adam broke the record with 85 strike-outs in 62 innings against Rising Sun.

"I was really excited when I found out that I broke the record. It was one of my goals for the year," said Adam Israel, senior.

The highlight of the season, was for many the end of the season, with the Dogs making it to the final round of the semistate tournament. Their chance to make it to the state championship ended with a disappointing loss to the Evansville Memorial Tigers after a hard-fought game. The team ended their season with a 23-13 record.

Based On Talent

The Lady Bulldogs took to the field with a young, but talented team. The season started off slow, with victories and losses coming hand-in-hand.

Playing off the strengths of their defense, the ladies were able to pull through with some important mid-season victories, including the defeat of South Dearborn, which moved the Dogs up in the ranks.

For junior Kendall Summers that game was a highlight of the season.

"That [victory]

put us second in the conference, and that felt really good," said Summers.

In spite of some hard losses and a tough defeat to Rushville (1-9) at Sectionals, the team pulled out winning record of 12-9. The team had four All-Conference players. Ashley Butt, Kesia Enzinger, Cara Hartman, and Angela Meyer all contributed to the success of their team.

Coach Dan Walter was proud of his team and hopes to move in the right direction in the future.

"We need to keep working on our offense and make sure our defense stays where it's at or improves," said Walter. "We only graduated two kids, so we should stand in good stead."

With youth and talent on their side, the Lady Bulldogs walked away feeling good about their season.

With the finest country club in the area as their home course, the men's golf team was sitting pretty from the start. The Dogs set out for the season with high hopes, even though they had a young team with no upperclass leadership. With all the hard work and dedication, the men shot for par all season long, even though the final record showed few W's on the scoreboard.

Being a team of freshmen and sophomores, the season could still be summed up as a success because of the experience that was gained.

"I think we did really well all things considered," said Marc Bergman, sophomore. "With the talent we have, we should be looking really good in two years."

For All-Conference player Dustin Lamping, playing on the golf team had its definite advantages.

"Golf is a favorite sport for many students due to the lack of running during practice," said Lamping, sophomore.

The team focused on having a good time at the links, while striving for successes like their Ripley County Tourney championship title.

Makin' a Racquet

For the women's tennis team, having fun was definitely high on the list of priorities for the season, even if running wasn't. Team members were admittedly a little on the lazy side, but they didn't let that stand in their way of success on the court.

The Lady Bulldogs were blessed with talent and great coaches, according to the players, and that led to a very successful season.

Practice was a time for working on technique and endurance said Krista Bergman, junior. Players either worked on specific drills or played games daily. Teamwork on the doubles front was another big plus.

The season turned out to be a success with a winning record of 15-7 and the title of Sectional champs. Even though the Dogs suffered a disappointing loss at Regionals to Richmond, the memories made on the courts and in the bus were enough to take away with a smile on their faces.

"On our way to Columbus North, we ended up at road closed signs...We still went through the road closed area to get there! That was a great memory of our season," said Kathalee Vernon, sophomore.

It's hard to follow in the footsteps of a team that went down in history, but the 2005 men's and women's track teams had no problem, and made a mark of their own.

According to Coach Turchyn, the women's team was young, but they started out better this year than last. With no seniors on the team younger students had to step up and take charge. "I'm excited for next year because I will have the experience from this year under my belt, which will make me compete better," said

Both teams ended with great records. They placed high in every meet, and pushed that extra step to finish first. Some students pushed their way to the record books by putting their names in the top spots to go down in school history.

Although the young women's team didn't have any luck when sectional time came around, individuals on the men's team pulled through for Batesville.

Those advancing were Jim Turchyn, Jimmy Moorman, David Hortemiller, and two relay teams: Wayne Meyers, Tyler Roell, Robert Call, and Jim Turchyn; and Robert Call, David Hortemiller, Justin Harmon, and Tyler Roell. When regional time came around, the guys all came through with excellent performances, but unfortunately couldn't match the competition. David Hortemiller tied a school record in the 400 and Jimmy Moorman broke a school record in the 300 hurdles, but it still wasn't enough to advance against the tough competition.

The men's team proved to be one of the best in Batesville history, but will suffer a huge loss of 11 seniors for next season. The women's team has all players returning, and high hopes that next year will bring more success.

Alex Koopman and Mr. Lemon had many good laughs, they established a great respect and friendship with one another through the years.

Chelsea Schebler, Clair Abplanalp, and Sammi Gunter took time out of their hectic schedules to pose for a picture, walking to and from the vending becomes a habit that many students never are able to break.

Ben Hamm and Rachel Fullenkamp, studied long and hard for an upcoming test in Miss Lynch's room, working together seemed to be an excellent way for students to study and socialize at the same time.

The Co-Editors-in-Chief(aka god) would now like to take the time to thank first off our incredibly brilliant yearbook advisor, Ms. Christine Stultz, for putting up with a severe lack of motivation as well as many technical difficulties through her first year at BHS. Thanks to the whole staff for making this year fun, interesting, and exciting, to say the very least. You guys were great and so is this yearbook! You should be proud of yourselves!

Good Luck to everyone in the future!

The Bulldog Annual Vol.85. was published by Walsworth Publishing Company. Fonts used were AWPCNicole and AWPCWanton because we were looking for a contrast between a business and a priceless memories theme. Photographs were taken by Andy Koors, Bryan Helvie, Randy Amick, and the yearbook staff. Pages were designed in Photoshop 7.0 and Adobe Pagemaker 6.5. The theme used for the book was "....Priceless." Our goal was to make a comparison between students' finances and memories from High School. Our page design elements consisted of having at least one dominant photo run off the spread and a line running across the spread somewhere. The yearbook sold for $40.
